LIQUID LOVE CODE - Angeli

ET Spotlight

In this class we will talk about the Angels. Everybody loves Angels, right? How can you not love Angels? The reason we love Angels is because we feel them. We feel the incredible love energy that comes from the Angelic frequency towards us when we connect to an Angel. Today we will look at what Angels actually are, who they are and how we can resonate with them. We will also learn about their history and involvement here with this planet and with humankind as we progressed through our evolutionary steps.

There are three things you need to know about the Angels.

1. They are essentially Love. They are forever linked to the Unconditional Love of God Source. They possess the Liquid Love Code. It is a particular resonance that is “the thing” that we feel when we connect to an Angel. It feels so amazing, right? So that is one thing about Angels. Unconditional Love.
2. Angel beings are in Divine Will. We have personal will which is what we call free will. That means we have the ability to make choices to go this way or that way. It is designed in that way so that we learn. Our ability to make choices to go in different directions creates a capacity within our incarnation in this Simulation and environment into which we have chosen to incarnate and explore. That capacity is there so that we can make mistakes, we can go on a detour and we can then find a path back, we can realign, we can go and explore many different situations. That is free will.

Angels don't have that. They have Divine Will. Divine will means whatever the actual Will of God Source is (pure and unfiltered through the uniqueness of any different being). Just purely God's Will, coming through the entire creation. Angels align with that so that is also their Will. In a sense there is no such thing as Angelic Will because their Will and Divine Will are the same thing. That is another thing to know about Angels. The fact that they don't necessarily have free Will like we do. They have themselves in alignment with the Universal Divine Will.

3. They don't look anything like how they have been artistically portrayed. This idea that an Angel is a person who is human looking with white skin, blonde, has blue eyes and is just beaming Love (kind of like an Angelic Jesus or something like a version of that) is all fairy tale thinking. Angels don't look like that. By the way, the reason we have that imagery in the morphogenic fields of this planet is because of the Pleiadean Star Group.

A while back, the human race had its own hiccup. That was while the Reptilian negative beings were on Earth and the human earthling Soul Group made a choice to go into the exploration of powerless-ness with Gaia. The Victim-Victimizer morphogenic field became activated. At that time the Pleiadean beings came to rescue the human being race. In doing so they ended up getting stuck here in a way and began reincarnating here. Because the Pleiadean beings came into this Simulation they actually do look like that. They are white-skinned. They are generally blonde or have yellow to almost white hair and they are generally blue-eyed.

That became associated with Angelic energy because of the feeling of Unconditional Love that human beings felt from the Pleiadean beings who came here to help them. That is where we get this image of an Angel looking like that. The whole concept of them having white wings behind them has absolutely nothing to do with reality. The reason there is the idea of the wings is another detour in human understanding.

The Angeli Guardians, the true Angels (whom we will talk about in a moment) have as one of their descendants the Avians. Avians are essentially bird people. Some of them literally look like birds and others look like people with feathers but people don't have wings. Bird, of course, do. It is still the same template. It is just more like birds have two wings instead of two arms. They don't have two arms and then in addition to that have two wings because that would make it six (2 arms, 2 wings and 2 legs) instead of four like a normal human quadruped does. Angeli are still based within the parameter of the four limbed types of beings which means 2 legs, 2 something (arms or wings) and a head if they step into that template or format.

The idea of Angels having wings comes from a mistranslation of a few terms and one of them was intuitive tuning into the Avian race that came here about the time of ancient Egypt. They created a lot of mystery schools. Some in Peru, others in Egypt, Mesopotamia and one in a place in Asia. There was an imprint of the Avian race and the humanoid Avian people did look like people but they had feathers. That is how they became associated with the Divine Will, the Unconditional Love and a yummy feeling of pure Liquid Love that people felt from them and the fact that they had feathers. That all together became mistranslated into their having wings, Angelic wings.

Another component of that mistranslation is that the word “Angel” itself simply means to be a messenger. We somewhat glorify the word itself but it doesn’t mean anything that we think it means. In Mesopotamian and then later on in the Hebrew language it was picked up as that concept of being an Angel when it actually means being a messenger. Somebody who delivers a message from God Source to the human race.

Because Angels have Divine Will it makes sense that they would be in that role, right? So now we have the actual being, the entity that is able to deliver the Divine Will of God Source to the human race unfiltered and without any personal interference by them. That is because they do not have a personal will or a personality to interfere in the type of energies that they bring. That is the messenger part of their role. In a sense, yes – Angels could serve as messengers although the Angeli Guardians are not going around delivering messages. From the mystery schools that concept was mistranslated into stories. You can even find stories in the bible about Angels and how they are essentially messengers. You can translate that actually as a messenger, delivering the Will of God.

This is what we need to know and understand about Angels.

1. Unconditional Love.
2. Divine Will instead of personal will.
3. They don't look anything like people with wings.

Now let's look at who the Angeli Guardians, these magnificent beings truly are. The Guardian Host is a group of Creator Beings who make the reality of what we see as the Universe where we, as Souls, go to explore in order to learn something and then deliver that information back to God Source. That is how God learns about itself. We are all One. We are all God Source. There is no one who is not God because in reality everything is one thing. The Universe is really one Consciousness. Souls have more individuation as we go through the process of learning, discovering something new within ourselves and understanding that then our lives have gained wisdom (hopefully). When it happens in that way, we have gained this wisdom that we have extracted from something that we had been studying. Then when we graduate from that lesson or situation within this Simulation, we bring that wisdom to God Source.

Creator Beings, like all of the Guardians, are in somewhat of a merged state. That merged state is what is called the Guardian Host. It is like One Consciousness that dimensionally include the 10th, 11th and 12th dimensions. Within the Guardian Host there are different consciousnesses or components that we might consider different or separate Guardians. The Guardian Host consists of individual Guardians but they are not actually separate in the way we might think. It's not like this one being and then that being. We might think of it in that way due to the fact that we are in the separation perspective here in 3D. That causes us to see things as 'this' but not 'that'. We might think of it as "If this is here, then that is not this". However, from the Guardian Host perspective everything is One thing and everything is always interconnected.

The Guardians are on different exploration paths, you could say, of the God Source itself. The Angeli are one of the Guardians and they are merged with the Guardian Host. They are also individuated enough to be known as the Angeli. When they went further out into the world that did create a little bit of separation to have individuality but that separation was much smaller than most. Angeli themselves are at the higher frequency levels and higher dimensions and they themselves never experienced any separation or individuality at all. Individuality is mostly a development of other species, especially the Paa-Tal who are another group of Guardians. The Angeli never developed any individuality. They remain merged with God Source. They remain unified as one consciousness that feels God Source all of the time in every essence of themselves.

Let's talk at how the Angeli truly look since they don't look like people. They look like orbs! They are glowing orbs. Imagine a soap bubble. They are golden orbs and instead of being empty, on the inside they are filled with energy and they are golden. They are bright gold light. A really, really strong gold color without any metallic type of shimmer. It is more of like sunlight shining through and it is also that golden sunlight color inside. If you've ever seen a close-up picture of a star, for example our Sun. You can see the corona. Inside you would see all of this beautiful and bright activity, right? The Sun is alive. The Angels or Angeli Guardians look a bit like that. They are big spheres. The difference is that there are also beings of Light coming out from them. They are spheres with beings of Light.

You could say that those beings look like wings because when the spheres move the beings are moving with them. It's almost like whiskers are sticking out of the spheres. It looks so beautiful if you actually see an Angeli being. I am describing it in almost mechanical terms here. Guardians are huge so in terms of size in connection with what we understand as ratios and proportions they are probably about the size of a Galaxy. That is pretty much the Angeli Guardians, the high frequency beings. They occupy a lot of space from our perspective, although they don't have our concept of space. That is because they have so much of the God Source Essence which is incredible.

The Angeli work directly with the Void and are fueled by the Void. They take energy from the Void (the other side of life) and then generate it into this reality. You could say that the Angeli are the first step of how God Source sees this reality. God Source doesn't necessarily explore through the Angeli. We are the ones who do that. The Angeli are essentially the bridge between the non-being into being in perfect alignment with God Source.

For some of the history of their involvement with this planet, when this planet was very young and was just starting its exploration (this was a very long time ago when the Solar System was just beginning to form, so about 6 Billion years ago) the Angeli Guardians came here. There were many of them in each of their gold spheres, a bit like space ships. They arrived from the 10th Dimension all the way down into the 7th Dimension which was much further down frequency-wise. That is where the Sun was creating our Simulation.

A certain number of those gold spheres came here (from what I understand there were about five of them). Those five spheres were a little bit bigger than our Solar System itself but within that approximate range of size so we're not talking about Galaxy size. We are talking about something that is more closely similar to our Solar System, size-wise. These beings came and witnessed what the Sun was creating and what was happening at that time.

Each of those five spheres contained many of the consciousnesses (and since they are merged, you could actually say it was one consciousness that arrived) of the Angeli Guardian energy. Then they moved on. That is what they do. They come in and they stand as a witness to the event of the birth of something. When something is born (and this was huge – it was the birth of the Solar System and the new Simulation, with this and many other planets) they were here to witness it all as it happened.

Another time that the Angeli came to this Solar System was when one of our planets blew up, fractured and was no more. This is now known as our asteroid belt. It used to be a planet and in the Solar Council the planet is known as Mulge. It was known by many different names including Phaeton, Maldek and others. We could call that planet whatever we want to as long as we know that we're talking about the same one so there are probably many others names by which it was known. The Solar Council calls it Mulge.

When Mulge was no more and it became asteroids that were scattered there was also a smaller group of the Angeli Beings here who were within the 5th Dimension. They had lowered themselves a little bit further down into the 5th Dimension at that time. They came to witness the event. That group of Angeli Beings were working with the Solar Council. They participated with the project of relocating the Souls that were on Mulge who could not continue in that experiment. That was because there was no more Simulation in which to continue the experiment. Details of that is for another class but in a nutshell that is why the Angeli were here again at that time.

The Angeli came here very, very recently for a third time. You can see that these occurrences are obviously very rare. It was right when Pi came in when the shift between Gaia and Pi occurred. That was in 2012-2013. We actually still have them right now in the Solar System. They are actually a little bit outside of the Solar System. They are large spheres. They are about the size of our Moon. Maybe slightly bigger but not by much. These spheres are relatively smaller than the others that came here. They currently are in the 5th Dimension. Their range is from 5D all the way to 10D. That is an incredible range. It's a bit like moving floating Stargates around.

A long time ago when this experiment was just starting this was a part of their agreement with the Solar Council. They agreed that if/when Gaia chose to go onto her exploration of powerless-ness and finding power in that way there would be a quarantine around the Solar System in order to help the experiment to remain contained and not become externally polluted by the environment while we are here learning. That part began from the time when the planet Mulge blew up and what they released recently.

The quarantine is over. It is no more. Anybody can come and go here, essentially. There is still a barrier and there is still a border. The Solar Council deals with that concept making sure that the containment of the system stays in place. The multidimensional quarantine that we had in order to sort of gestate inside the system is completed. That is why the Angeli are here. The Angeli Guardians came here in their glowing gold spheres in order to release the quarantine. They are staying for the upcoming event.

The event they are staying for is pretty much the same one anybody here is awaiting. It will be the upcoming Solar activity change. It will be the flash that is supposed to resonate through the Being that we call the Sun. That will be when the Sun arrives at a particular spot where it hits a beam as it rotates around this Galaxy. That beam is like a particular tentacle-like energy wave from the center of the Galaxy that will come out from there. When our Solar System moves into that beam and the Sun and that tentacle-like energy intersect it will activate the Sun. That will wake up the Sun and it will 'do it's thing'. That 'thing' is a Solar event that doesn't happen often. It only happens about every 250,000 or 256,000 years or close to that. It is when it goes around the entire Galaxy. It is pretty rare!

The tentacle itself is a moveable event. Because it is not a stationary event nobody can be really sure about knowing when it will happen. Supposedly it will be soon and the Angeli are here for it. This is going to be very interesting. And with the Angeli actually being in our Solar System it helps us know it will be relatively soon. They are here for only a certain number of years. They are resonating with the Sun so there is actually a direct link between them and the Sun.

If you want to tune in to this incredible energy of Liquid Love, connection and Oneness and the feeling of your Self and God Source being as One merged Being this is your opportunity. That is because right now these amazing Angeli Guardians are in our Solar System. To tune into them, you would have to expand in order for you to match their frequency. We will work with learning how to do that in the Meditation.

Be LOVE. Be FREE. Be GOD.
