

GOLD COAST Int'l FILM FESTIVAL

NOV 10-15, 2016 GREAT NECK | MANHASSET | PORT WASHINGTON | ROSLYN | LIU POST

NEW YORK PREMIERE

GOLD BALLS

SAT, NOV 12 | 5:00PM

Bow Tie, Manhasset

430 Plandome Road, Manhasset

For more info & tickets, visit:
bit.ly/gciffgoldballs

Kate Dandel's quirky and charming feature-length documentary debut inspires the average athlete in all of us while offering unique insight into the lives of several elite tennis athletes—who just happen to be over age 80. Over the course of one championship season, the film follows several players competing for the 'gold ball' trophy awarded to National Champions in tennis. Characters include a former Big 10- basketball coach, a retired litigator, an aging comedian, and the founder of "Black Tennis Magazine." As we witness the routines of these creaky warriors, we are reminded that sometimes just getting to the courts is half the battle. A film to inspire viewers of every age to reset what we think about 'old age' and whom we consider champions.

Q&A Following the film with Director, Kate Keckler Dandel

sponsored by:

EASTERN LONG ISLAND

TICKETS NOW ON SALE!

For a complete schedule, visit goldcoastfilmfestival.org | 516-829-2570