Teach the Sport of a Lifetime
Receive FREE tennis equipment for your school

As a central part of thriving communities, teachers always look for new ways to bring subjects to life for their students. The USTA is committed to helping teachers introduce tennis in PE classes and connect to after school programs.

Lesson plans under Net Generation were co-created by the USTA and SHAPE America. As a result, every activity within every single lesson meets SHAPE America National Standards and Grade Level Outcomes for K-12 Education. The easy-to-follow teaching tools make it easy to teach and play tennis in all school settings. Easily accessible manuals help teachers guide students at every stage of development.

Teachers are eligible to receive FREE equipment after four simple steps:

1. Create your FREE account: go to: www.netgeneration.usta.com
Use your school email
2. Complete your Information/Profile: click on "Provider Tools" top right.
Stop at Safe Play Background Check; teachers are exempt
3. Once Safe Play clearance confirmed, sign in to "Provider Tools".
Click on: Program Management Center
Post your PE Program
4. Sign Community Partner form: Partner is USTA Coordinator

Net Generation is the official youth brand of the USTA. It is a market place where parents will find programs and coaches to give kids the skills to be great on and off the court.

Net Generation is a resource for teachers, coaches and tennis providers.

The first 12 teachers to register for the training and complete their Net Generation accounts will receive a FREE Android Tablet.
