

Sleep Tip 2

All physical activity requires an adequate supply of chemical energy from the body. Chronic sleep loss leads to a 30-40% reduction in glucose metabolism, and significantly reduces the amount of time it takes for an athlete to reach the point of physical exhaustion. Overall physical strength, as well as speed, also takes a big hit after repeated days of inadequate sleep.