

Cookie Career Profiles

When you know your strengths, you can make the best use of them. How could you use your talents to make your Cookie Activity a whopping success? They may be the same talents you use in your future career too. And remember, your talents are still developing, so don't hesitate to try something new or take on an area that seems like a stretch.

The Cookie Activity is a hands-on business experience — make the most of it!

WORD WONDER

You're talented in using language and thinking symbolically. Maybe you'll become a writer, editor or researcher. This Cookie Season, you might write and edit the PR materials.

NUMBER NATURAL

You can think logically, recognize patterns and work with abstract concepts. Maybe you'll become an accountant, an engineer or a data analyst. This Cookie Season, you might help with goal tracking and with cost analysis, using the Goal Action Planner shown on page 10.

DESIGN DYNAMO

You have a clear perception of things and are able to recall visual patterns. Maybe you'll become a graphic designer, an artist or a photographer. This Cookie Season, you might try designing advertising materials and creating displays for the booth sales.

SOCIAL SENSATION

You have a keen sense of the needs and interests of others, and you're a good communicator. Maybe you'll become a psychologist, a social worker or a sales person. This Cookie Season, you might be the contact person for cookie events and booth sales.

PHYSICAL PHENOMENON

You're a doer! You're skilled in physical movement. Maybe you'll become a professional athlete, a dancer or a physical therapist. This Cookie Season, maybe you could organize booth setup, door to door sales and cookie deliveries.
