SCRIPPS NATIONAL SPELLING BEE AND KINDLE PRESENT SPELEBRITY VIDEO CONTEST FOR NATIONAL READING MONTH

CINCINNATI – Today begins a month-long celebration of reading, spelling, words and vocabulary. The Scripps National Spelling Bee, presented by Kindle, kicks off National Reading Month with the launch of the Spellebrity Video Contest. The event invites students to produce a creative video that spells out how to kindle the love of reading. Five Finalist teams earn a huge prize: an expenses-paid trip to the 2016 Scripps National Spelling Bee this May 22-27, near Washington, D.C.

The Scripps National Spelling Bee, the nation’s largest and longest-running educational program, last month announced Kindle as its presenting sponsor. Both brands are working to elevate the belief that reading, spelling and vocabulary are critically important to a child’s lifelong achievement. With the Spellebrity Video Contest, students will use their imagination to combine spelling and reading into a fun and inspiring message.

Spellebrity Video Contest Basics:

- Eligibility: Students who have not passed beyond eighth grade and who are legal residents of the United States and its territories
- Team: 1-4 members on a team
- Team member requirements: Script, record and edit the video
- Video length: No longer than five minutes
- Video theme: Spell out how to kindle the love of reading and feature three words that would be useful in a spelling bee. The video narrative should inspire viewers to read more.
- Adult involvement: Students must have the support of a parent or teacher who will be responsible for submitting the video and uploading a completed parental consent form (for each student) on spellebrity.com
- Deadline to submit: April 4
- Videos should be free of any copyrighted material, text, images and music
- See Official Rules and Terms of Participation

“The Scripps National Spelling Bee captures the competitive spirit of more than 11 million students,” said Paige Kimble, executive director of the Scripps National Spelling Bee. “Only about 280 of them advance to the National Finals. The Spellebrity Video Contest delivers another chance for many to showcase their mastery of the English language through video storytelling. With Kindle as our presenting sponsor, we look forward to seeing the approaches these creative young minds take.”

Videos can be submitted through April 4. A judging panel will review all of the submissions and select 10 Semifinalist videos. The Semifinalist videos will be posted to spellingbee.com, where the public will vote for the best videos. The five videos that receive the most votes will advance to the National Finals where participants in the Scripps National Spelling Bee will vote for the best video. The Champion video will be announced during the 2016 Scripps National Spelling Bee Awards Banquet.

Prizes:

- Each member of the Semifinalist teams (10) will receive a Kindle Paperwhite.
- Each member of the Finalist teams (5) will receive an expenses-paid trip to the 2016 Scripps National Spelling Bee:
