Why Teach when you Can Do?

Dr. Raymond Moberly

B.S. Engineering, California Institute of Technology
M.S. Applied Mathematics, San Diego State University
Ph.D. Computational Science, Claremont Graduate University
Annie Hall – Best Picture 1977

Those who can't do, teach.
Those who can't teach, teach gym.

– Woody Allen
The Manpower™ Curve

- The younger guy represents a five-year better investment to Human Resources.
- If he is loyal to the company, he's willing to settle for less than he's worth.
Why Teach?

To Multiply your Efforts

You can help to shape

- One or two mentors in an industry role.

or

- Thirty to forty learners in the classroom.
Because you are Good at it

You can know that you are in the right role as a teacher / professor when

- People complement your effort.
- Students are learning.
What can you Teach?

I choose to Teach Mathematics because

- It's a subject that is tough for some people to learn.
- There are set rules that follow a prescribed rationale.
- Logical thought process.
- Their answer is either Right or Wrong.
Where can you Teach?

I’ve enjoyed teaching at some of these:

- Secondary
- Community College
- Tutoring
- Career Colleges / Day or Night
- University
Reputation Management

- Social Media
  - Linked-In contacts
  - Facebook
  - Instagram

- Reviews
  - School-reviews
  - RateMyProfessors.com
The Sum Product Algorithm
The Sum Product Algorithm

How does the teaching all fit in with where I am going?
Capable to Do, I Choose to Teach too!

Dr. Raymond Moberly
Principal Consultant and Small Business Owner
Faster Logic, LLC