

I love your dimples.

I love how great I feel around you.

I love ~~the~~ how solid I feel with you. I always know where I stand.

I love feeling your love.

I love feeling my love for you.

I love knowing that I can count on you.

I love admiring and respecting and ~~adore~~ adoring you.

I love how much fun we have together.

I love how we laugh.

I love feeling held and accepted and admired.

I love feeling like we're on a giant playground together.

I love the sparks we strike off each other.

I love growing faster better more with you.

I love how easy it is to connect with every ~~the~~ good

I love the shivery, sparkly feeling of elation that provides my life.

I love how easy it is to believe in myself with you believing in me.

I love the deep feeling of peace and security ~~that is~~

I love how you kiss.

I love the idealistic, generous, vulnerable person you are.

I love that you're changing the world.

I love your equanimity.

I love the way you can still surprise me with unexpected bursts of sweetness, even though I know you so well.

I love how brave ~~of~~ you are.

I love how you're always ready to learn, grow, and try new things.

I love your spirit of adventure.

I love that being with you feels like flying, and also like the coziest fuzzy blanket and pajamas, and also like chocolate.

I love collaborating with you.

I love dancing with you.

I love how much you love yourself.

I love your gorgeous body, and your ^{the strength of} desire.

I love feeling your hands on me.

I love holding hands with you.

I love that you like to be close.

I love the way you inspire me to be my best self.

I love how ~~absorbed~~ absorbed you are.

I love your confidence.

I love how wide my heart opens up when I'm around you.

I love that you say how you feel.

I love that you know how you feel.

I love making elaborate brunches with you.

I love how patient and honest and strong you are.

I love how funny you are.

I love how meticulous you are at the things you do.

I love your sexy lips.

I love that you're so easy.

I love our soul-deep sex. And our animal sex. And everything in between.

I love our long philosophical discussions.

I love our comfortable silences.

I love singing in the car together.

I love playing with your hair.

I love how proud you are of me and how proud I am of you.

I love how you make ~~normal~~ ordinary life feel like the best day ever.

Beautiful Life, the Dance of Joy

I love my clients, and they love me. We make magic together.

I love living in high-vibration energy.

I love knowing that everything is unfolding exactly as it should.

I love manifesting more blessings and abundance more quickly and easily all the time.

I love my first-class luxury life.

I love having plenty to be generous with.

I love knowing I'm taken care of - I'm in God's palm.

I love having plenty of time for my client work, my passion projects, learning, growing, rest, and play. not just

I love being in harmony with myself - ~~belonging~~ loving and accepting myself, but liking myself.

I love feeling so confident, happy, and at peace.

I love being in the moment.

I love just being me, no matter where I am or what I'm doing.

I love my fans. I love inspiring people to be real and craft ~~their~~ the life of their dreams.

I love saying what I'm feeling or thinking.

I love having clear boundaries.

I love how grateful I feel.

I love dancing with God in my work and play.

I love that my work is play.

I love living in elation and peace.

I love the way success and abundance bring me closer to God.

I ~~love~~ love being a rich manach.

I love creating beauty and connection in service of waking people up and guiding them to live in their zone of genius.