~Obituary~

Andrea Renee Morrison, affectionately known as "NuNu" or "Red" was born July 20, 1956 to the late Andrew J. Morrison and Jeanette Deriggi Morrison on the Westside of Chicago, Illinois, the middle child and their only baby girl.

Andrea's formal education came by way of Austin Career Academy and Malcolm X College where she completed coursework in the Home Healthcare field. Andrea was a natural caretaker and much of her employment was in that field as a personal care aide, finishing her working career at Ashley Quality Care. Most importantly though, Andrea was a very proud homemaker devoting her life and love to raising her children, grandchildren and many children throughout the communities where she lived that needed a loving and affectionate home.

Andrea created bonds in communities throughout Chicago because of her very loving spirit. Her fire red hair matched her spicy spirit and turned heads whenever she stepped on the scene. She definitely created lifelong bonds from the West to the South sides of the city, from Cabrini Green to LeClaire Courts. One such bond was with the late activist Marion Stamps which prompted Andrea to use her voice to fight for her fellow residents at LeClaire Courts during her time living there.

Andrea could definitely be a force to reckon with, even with her laidback nature. Anywhere you go in the City of Chicago, you are bound to hear a interesting story about NuNu, all which end with the storyteller saying how much they loved her.

Andrea leaves to cherish her memories her two children, Chante and Martez; two brothers Joseph and David (Faye Lee); three grandchildren Kierma (Vincent), Keonte, and Zoey; two great grandchildren Vincent, Jr and Zaniyah; three nieces Christina, Joselyn and Callandra; one nephew Joseph; a host of great nieces and nephews, cousins and friends.

*From you Mom, I've learned what love does: It gives almost nything, shows up for you amy time;
AND goes with you for a LIFETIME!
Love, Tay*

*What Makes a Beautiful Mother?
The warmth in her heart for her family,
Her welcoming hugs at the door,
How happy she is just to see you and to spend time together
Once more...*

*The way she cares so much about you
And thinks of you often each day,
And the way that, no matter how old you may be,
She worries that You'll be okay...*

*Her pride in the things you've accomplished,
Her interest in things that you do,
And the way that she offers such love and support
For the dreams most important to you...*

*What makes a beautiful mother?
It's the love that she's shared from the start,
And the lifetime of family memories she's made
That will always be dear to your heart.*
