We Know Your Business, Funeral Directors Since 1822

www.mustercoaches.com

Two Events in our history that changed the funeral business

1. The American Civil War which was the beginning of embalming and delaying the funeral and burial to provide for a family ceremony.

2. The Covid Pandemic with the sudden death of 650,000 Americans and the social lockdown. The visitation has changed from the night before, with a funeral service the next day, to now simply two to three hours visitation accompanied by the funeral. This one day concept is becoming the norm. Cremation is on the rise but also is the death rate and the aging population. With all these changes the FUNERAL ROLLING STOCK, is still our best icon to identify and advertise our business. The hearse is the most reflective equipment that people see and expect. The first call unit is accepted by the industry and also to the public, and is the work horse of the funeral home.
