DISPOSITION TYPE

ALKALINE HYDROLYSIS the gentle, eco-friendly option — $3,200*

Alkaline Hydrolysis is an environmentally friendly method of final disposition that is available for our loved ones. The scientific name for this water-based process is alkaline hydrolysis. It is the same process that occurs as part of nature's course when a body is laid to rest in the soil. A combination of gentle water flow, temperature, and alkalinity are used to accelerate the breakdown of organic materials.

Price includes basic services of funeral director and staff; transfer of remains to funeral home; refrigeration (up to 5 days); and Alkaline-Hydrolysis fee.*

The resulting soil can then be returned home to be planted with a memorial tree or donated to forestry or other similar nature rejuvenation projects.

In most of the country, state or local law does not require that you buy a container to surround the casket in the grave. However, many cemeteries require that you have such a container so that the grave will not sink in. Either a grave liner or a burial vault will satisfy those requirements. Urn vaults for burial of cremated remains are encouraged, but may not be required at other cemeteries. Families should check directly with the custodian of their local cemetery for exact grave locations and cemetery requirements for vaults and liners, multiple use of spaces, and marker regulations.
