

During this unprecedented pandemic, Zylka Funeral Home remains committed to providing your family with the utmost care of your loved one while respecting the health concerns now facing our community. We wish to assure every family that we are available 24/7, that we will respond immediately when our services are needed and, that we will continue to provide each family with the excellence, care and dedication they have come to expect from us.

While our nation continues to feel the increasing impact of the coronavirus, we recognize our responsibility to protect the health of those we are privileged to serve, and we will continue to guide our families, as we always have, in ways they can meaningfully commemorate the life of their loved one, while adhering to the guidance issued by federal, state and local public health officials. Presently, gatherings over 10 people are not permitted in any funeral home, and in fact, many cemeteries have imposed similar limits on ceremonial gatherings on their grounds, however, you may rest assured that small private viewings, burial and cremation may still be carried out. At your time of need, we will guide you through an appropriate and safe process to commemorate the life of your loved one within the guidelines imposed upon all of us.

As with all matters, we are approaching the coronavirus pandemic and its ramifications by educating ourselves with all of the available facts, disseminating those facts to our staff and the public and, taking all necessary precautions to prevent the spread of this virus to others. The health of your loved ones and ours is paramount and we have worked proactively over the last few weeks to face this current challenge. In addition, all of our employees will continue to follow CDC best-practice guidelines to prevent the spread of viruses and we encourage our families and guests to do the same.
