The Dark Sunset

Dedicated to my sister, Lilian Maureen Queen

The dark sunset swirls and swirls and nature's beauty cannot heal

I cry out, "Stay"

It is a wasted breath

Loss

A hollow, empty space inside

A soul that cries

Memories

Of kind hands that healed

Of loving arms that gently held

Of moments shared, that can no longer be shared with you

Who shared them with me

Memories

To me the fate of earthly time has fallen

In the transition of my passing and throughout eternity,

I leave for you an essence

The everlasting essence of my undying love

-Noelle C. McCorriston
