FAMILY DINNER AFTER THE FUNERAL AT CHAPEL WEST

Eulogy

David Bosire Nyambane had a very taxing, but joyful life. David was cheerful & helpful person and made a significant impact on so many people's lives.

David Bosire was born on June 16, 1967, in Nakuru, to the late Dismas Ongoro and the late Pauline Kerubo. He was the second born of five children, the late George Ongera, Tom Nyambane, Justus Morara, and late Beatrice Bosibori.

They never moved outside of Nakuru. David Bosire attended schooling at Mama Ngina Primary, and Ngoro High School, and graduated from College of Insurance in Kenya in 1998. He then went to work at KFA selling insurance policies. Then after moving to the States, he graduated from Northwood University in Indiana with a bachelor's in business administration. He continued to sell insurance policies for First Chicago Insurance Company in the States. While working as a taxi driver for most of his life, and then later working for Lyft and Uber.

In 1998 David Bosire met Sylvia Maina and they were married in 2000. Before David met My mom, Sylvia, David already previously had a son, named Carlos Bosire, and eventually they had three girls, Georgina Bosire, Claire Bosire, and Nicole Bosire.

David Bosire cared very much about the communities around him and had aspirations for politics. He devoted countless energy, and time to serving everyone & anyone he could, and that's why he was known for always helping others. And that's been apparent in him since he was born, always friendly, and peaceful with everyone, and concerned for everyone's wellbeing.

David was a remarkably kindhearted person. He was a person of great compassion, and warmth, a born leader, and a friend to all.

Above all, David Bosire always believed in keeping the peace, and doing the right thing

Dad, thank you for being part of our lives. We are going to miss you.
