

Chase,

We as your parents never wanted to see you go. These past nine months has been a journey.... from doctor's appointments, to long hospital stays, many different medications, to being up half the night all because you simply could not sleep. You would snuggle up under us while you would sleep, and no one was allowed to even know you were sleeping with us. You were our baby and that was our little secret. You were so strong...Chase, it's all over now. You have fought and won your battle and now we can finally say "you are cancer free". Our only wish is to still have you here with us! Our hearts are aching, your father, brother and I are really deeply going to miss you Chase.

Love,
Mommy and Daddy

Dear Chase,

When you left us I couldn't believe it. We were crying bad but we are going to work it out. You tried to fight Leukemia, but it kept coming back. Me and Chase always use to figure out how to get on mom and dad nerves. We used to argue all the time and you would never let me be in your phone, if so you would slap me. I am going to miss that. I love you Chase.

Love Your Twin Brother,
Chance

Your cousins are like your first best friends. We have done many things together, but there was still so much for us to do. We are hurting but thank God for the time he gave us with you. We love you Chase,

Love Mahki and Jakirus

Chase,

I wanted to express how I felt in so many ways when I found out you were sick. It would come out as anger, frustration, and sometimes simply with just tears. Chase, Auntie Cindy is really going to miss you going places with us, me coming to the school, and your sneaky little smile. I was the only one who could get you to do certain things from persuading you to eat and drink "all I had to say was "you're not coming to my house anymore" and you would be like "no Auntie Cindy, I'm going to do it." Chase these past months have been rough for you, but I'm glad I was on this journey with you.

Love Auntie Cindy
