I Did Not Weep

“I did not weep to see him dead, because upon his face
I saw a smile of glory spread, a touch of heavenly grace.
And tho’ my form he could not see, I fancied that he knew
That I was there, and spoke to me the way he used to do.
I fancied that I heard him say, who battled long with pain,
‘A miracle occurred today, and I am well again!
I did not cough last night and wake from fever’s restless sleep,
To wait to see the morning break and hear the wagons creep,
And I am well and I am strong and glad am I today,
The burden I have borne so long has now been put away.’
And standing in that darkened place, the smile of long ago,
Which God had left upon his face, told me ’twas better so.”
