Obituary

Gilmon was born Warren Gilmon Talbert on June 24, 1925 in Madison, WI to parents, Madeline “Madge” Mosley and Philip Talbert. At the age of 3, his parents died within months of each other. Gilmon was taken in by relatives when he arrived in Ft. Huachuca in Tombstone, AZ.

Gilmon lived through the Depression where only the basic needs were met by family and relatives. As a teen he attended Tombstone High school in 1941, and then enrolled at UCLA. During his Junior year he was approached by a US Marine recruiter to become part of the first all Black Unit formed to serve in WWII.

He enlisted in October 1943 and traveled to Montford Point Marine Base, Jackson, NC. He completed boot camp which was described as “six weeks of pure Hell!” He graduated as a honor Man of his platoon, promoted to Private 1st Class, and became an expert Marksman. He was wounded in the battle of Iwo Jima, received a Purple Heart, Bronze star for bravery, and a National Service medal and was promoted. Of the 250 Marines that went to combat, only 27 marines survived.

He returned to duty in Europe and attained the rank of Chief Warrant Officer III in the US Army in 1953. He married the former Wealthy T. Cody in Orleans, France. From that union, a son was born, Jeffrey K. Brooks. Upon retirement from military service he received a 5th Army Commendation Medal to round out his career. He initially became a Manager Trainer with Sears. Gilmon returned to Federal Service as a Personnel Manager with Naval Weapons Station Earle, and later selected to be a Civilian Personnel Manager with US Army CECON Fort Monmouth in 1974.

After retiring from Federal Service he was actively involved in activities in Neptune Township such as, Monmouth County and NJ School Boards, Drug Board, Scouting, Monmouth County Men’s Club, St. Augustine’s Episcopal Church, Military Retirees Council, and the Montford Point Marines Association, Philadelphia Chapter. He is a recipient of the US Congressional Medal of Honor and numerous civic awards and accommodations. We will remember him for his love of fine dining, elegant style of dress, smooth and graceful dancer (once upon a time), love of the game of golf, tennis, and an avid bridge player and world traveler.

Surviving family members are his wife, Visla R. Brooks; son, Jeffrey K. Brooks (Toni) of North Brunswick, NJ; 2 grandchildren, Zachary D. Brooks and Marko S. Brooks; former daughter-in-law, Judith Sandlin of Piscataway, NJ; 2 stepsons, Harold R. Shomo (Lynsey) of the US Virgin Islands and William J. Shomo (Janice) of Atlanta, GA; niece, Deborah Walden-Hoes; great niece, Curtistine Walden-Hoes from Northern CA area; and a host of close family and friends that we consider family.

The Colored Soldier
By Langston Hughes

My brother died in France—but I came back.
We were just two colored boys, brown and black,
Who joined up to fight for the U.S.A.
When the nation called us that mighty day.
We were sent to training camp, then overseas
And me and my brother were happy as you please
Thinking we were fighting for Democracy’s true reign
And that our dark blood would wipe away the stain
Of prejudice, and hate, and the false color line
And give us the rights that are yours and mine.
They told us America would know no black or white
So we marched to the front, happy to fight.
Last night in a dream my brother came to me
Out of his grave from over the sea,
Back from the acres of crosses in France,
And said to me, “Brother, you’ve got your chance,
And I hope you’re making good, and doing fine
‘Cause when I was living, I didn’t have mine.
Black boys couldn’t work then anywhere like they can today.
Could hardly find a job that offered decent pay.
The unions barred us; the factories, too,
But now I know we’ve got plenty to do.
We couldn’t eat in restaurants; had Jim Crow cars;
didn’t have any schools; and there were all sorts of bars
To a colored boy’s rising in wealth or station
But now I know well that’s not our situation
The world’s been made safe for Democracy
And no longer do we know the dark misery
Of being held back, of having no chance
Since the colored soldiers came home from France.

 Didn’t our government tell us things would be fine
When we got through fighting, Over There and dying? So now I know we blacks are just like any other, Cause that’s what I died for isn’t it, Brother?
And I saw him standing there, straight and tall,
In his soldier’s uniform, and all. Then his dark face smiled at me in the night.
But the dream was cruel and bitter and somehow not right.
It was awful facing that boy who went to die For what could I answer him, except, “It’s a lie!”
It’s a lie! It’s a lie! Every word they said.
And it’s better a thousand times you’re in France dead.
For here in the South there’s no votes and no right
And I’m still just a ‘nigger’ in America tonight.
Then I woke up, and the dream was ended
But broken was the soldier’s dream, too bad to be mended. And it’s a good thing all the black boys lying dead Over There Can’t see! And don’t know! And won’t ever care!
