Obituary

“Heaven came down and glory filled my soul.”

On July 8, 2019, Janice Lucille Peay Cammon peacefully transitioned from her home into the arms of the Lord. She was born on July 20, 1950 in Concord, North Carolina to the late Walter and Lucy Peay and she was the eldest of five children. Janice and several of her siblings were reared by their great uncle and great aunt, William and Arnetta Peay, Sr.

Janice was a classy, meticulous, honest, caring and stately woman. Most importantly, Janice Cammon was a child of the King, who loved and served the Master throughout her life.

The family circle was always an important structure in Janice’s life. This was very evident as she and her husband, Willie, reared their daughters, Grenetta and Mya. She was a devoted mentor to all of her family members, helping to keep a loving and spiritual bond among them. Her love and compassion extended beyond her immediate family, guided by her gracious heart and desire to help people understand the love of Jesus Christ.

Janice attended the public schools in Concord, North Carolina before moving to Baltimore, Maryland in 1965 where she continued her academic path. She graduated from the prestigious Western High School for girls. Led by God’s calling, Janice attended Maryland School of the Bible and completed ministerial courses at Truth Bible College in Jacksonville, Florida. She was ordained as a minister in 2000. Her ministry involved working with broken women, empowering them to believe in themselves and God. Janice co-founded a church, Wells Living Waters Outreach Ministries of Winnsboro, SC. In addition, Janice was an entrepreneur where she helped clients understand the importance of good money management and how to become debt-free.

Janice was employed with Westinghouse Aerospace for over 18 years, she worked as a teacher at Alpha and Omega Academy, and she ended her professional career as a Sales Consultant. Her retirement years were devoted to taking care of family and friends; and reading daily from the numerous Christian books in her library. She established River of Life Breakfast Club in Winnsboro, South Carolina.

Obituary cont’d

Janice leaves to celebrate her life her devoted husband, Willie Cammon; daughters, Grenetta (Keith) Murray and Mya Cammon; one sister, Vickie (Marcel) Coates; two brothers, Anthony (Gail) Peay and Jerald Peay Wilson; grandsons, Joshua and Jemard Murray; god-daughters, Nilah Singleton, Natalie Green, and Shemika Johnson; spiritual daughters, Keoysha Wright, Chrishonda Henderson, Barbara Ann White, Tykeishia Robinson, Tekasha Smith, Tonya Jones, and Marianne Bell; special friends Vera Howard, Jackie Seibles, Ida McKenzie, Reatha Alexander, and Phyllis Shelton; a host of loving nephews, nieces and cousins.

In addition to her parents, Janice was preceded in death by one brother, Walter.

Reflections

I’ve known you all of my life. Besides being my sister, you were my best friend, confidant, shopping partner, laughing and crying partner. When the moving truck left Baltimore bound for South Carolina with you in it, I felt heart sick. I cried and cried and cried some more. I followed the truck until it was out of sight, and I cried some more.

I will miss our all-day shopping, closing the stores out. I will miss you asking me decorating tips. I will miss talking to you from the garage at work to the garage at home.

We talked from soup to nuts. Man!!! Would you get fired up if you knew someone had hurt my feelings. I would have to talk you down. I knew you loved me, but I loved you more. This is not the end, not a period, but a comma in the life process. Janice, save a seat for me.

Your Sister, Vickie

Mommie,

I was your first born, you wanted the best for me and didn’t have a problem telling me how you felt. I knew you meant well and that you loved me. I am so sad to know you will no longer have Christmas dinner in Baltimore with the family. I am so sad that I won’t hear your voice again, that I won’t be able to pinch you or kiss you on the neck. The silence is sickening. I miss you already. Joshua and Jemard lost their grandmother too soon,

Love, Grenetta

I admired my mother for how she lived her life, putting God first and teaching others how to live. She knew how to light up your life with encouraging words and inspiration. She was my best friend, my prayer warrior and a great mother. You will truly be missed. I love you so much my Silver Queen.

Miss Mya

Aunt Janice

You were our only aunt. You were a positive force in our lives. We looked forward to seeing you when you came to visit each year. We will miss your good cooking, stern advice, fussing and loving us. Life will not be the same without you.

Love Bill (Will), Yannick, and Brierre
