

We are humbled and thankful for the love, support, and prayers so many have shown us as God led us on this difficult journey with our precious son Blake, and we desire continued prayers for our tomorrows.

"He shall gather the lambs with his arm,
and carry them in His bosom."

Isaiah 40:11

What a tiny infant trooper,
With such a precious smile.
Blessed by God to you
For a very little while.

His impact was so large
For one God made so small.
A reminder every day
To everyone of us all ...

"Don't get too distracted,
Promise to not forget,
That life is very fragile,
And we should live with no regret."

So please keep looking up,
Our treasures' not here below.
God promised eternal life
His children to bestow."

Blake's visit here was short
And yet without a word,
His "voice" just kept reminding ...
God's promises are heard.

"My God supplies your needs"
Doesn't always promise health,
But rather grace sufficient
And abundant, spiritual wealth.

This happened for a reason,
This hope is where we rest,
Because the Bible tells us ...
God's ways are always best.

As we sorrow with your family,
And bow our heads to pray,
We rejoice with little Blake,
For he sings with God today.
