

The Words are so Very Hard to Say

*The words are so very hard to say,
Even though I know you're in a better place.
The words are so very hard to say,
Even though I know you have no more pain.
The words are so very hard to say,
Even though I know your time here is done,
The words are so very hard to say,
Even though I know your race here has been won.
The words are so very hard to say,
But before I do, I want to say
 Leonia, I love you.
The words are so very hard to say,
As we gather here today, with tear filled eyes.
The words that's so very hard to say
 Is our last good-byes.

Obituary

Leonia "Onnie" Hagood Robinson, 52 of Anderson, SC, passed away Sunday, October 9, 2016 at the Hospice House of the Upstate. She was born January 24, 1964 to the late Clifton and Ruby Smith Hagood.

She was a member of New Holly Light Missionary Baptist Church. She was a former employee of Aramark for 20 years. Leonia was full of life and loved all her family.

She is survived by five sisters, Clara H. Osbey (Herbert), Carrie Johnson (Allen), Annie Allman (Bobbie), Lourlean Oglesby (Clarence), and Maebell Jones (Ernest); five brothers, William Hagood (Lena), John Hagood (Claudine), Ronald Hagood (Brenda), Donald Hagood (Gwen), and Stanley Hagood (Shirley); step-daughter, Keisha Robinson; one godson, Sean Jones; and a host of nieces, nephews and cousins.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Claude Robinson, Jr.; parents, Clifton and Ruby Smith Hagood; one sister, Joann Hagood; one brother, Calvin Hagood; and one nephew, Lamar Johnson.

*I'm certain that God knows what's best,
That's why He sent His angels to bring you home to rest.
We are all saddened that you're not physically here,
But the endless memories in our hearts
Will forever keep you near.
Our hearts are weary and tears my flow,
But here is a little something she wanted us to know,
She loved us all in different ways,
But she loved us all just the same.
There's no more suffering, no more pain,
Spread your wings and soar,
Send some wind our way,
Tell all of our loved ones we said hello
And we'll meet again someday!*

*Great Niece
Tiara Hadden*
