

When Tomorrow Starts Without Me

When tomorrow starts without me,
Please try to understand,
That an angel came and called my name
And took me by the hand.
The angel said my place was ready
In heaven far above
And that I would have to leave behind
All those I dearly love.
But when I walked through Heaven's gates,
I felt so much at home,
When God looked down and smiled at me,
And told me "Welcome Home."
So when tomorrow starts without me,
Don't think we're far apart,
For every time you think of me,
I'm right there in your heart.

Lillie Cornealia Williams Brown, 1951-2021

After a long and courageous fight against cancer, Lillie Cornealia (Williams) Brown of Greenwood, South Carolina passed away on April 20, 2021 at age 69.

Born in Greenwood on August 27, 1951 to the late Squire Williams Jr., and to Edna Scott Williams, Brown graduated from Brewer High School in 1969.

After raising her three children, she earned a Bachelor of Science degree in education from Lander University and a Master of Arts degree in educational administration from Nova Southeastern University. A beloved public-school teacher for over twenty years, Brown molded hundreds of students at the Springfield Elementary and the McCormick Elementary schools. She also was a devoted member of the Generostee Baptist Church in Starr, SC, where she served in the Women's Ministry and on the Senior Choir.

Brown is survived by Willie James Brown, her husband of 52 years, and her daughters, Tomiko (Daniel) Brown-Nagin of Brookline, MA, and Faith (Frazer) Lowe of Chandlers Ford, England; and was pre-deceased by her son, W. Marcus Brown, a veteran of the U.S. Army who served in the Iraq War. One of six siblings, Brown was a caring sister to the Rev. Dr. Ronnie (Helen) Williams of Anderson, SC, Leonard Williams of Atlanta, GA, Bobbie Jean (Joe) Harrison and Sandy (Frank) Caldwell, both of Greenwood, and Eddie J. Williams (deceased); a loving grandmother to Julius and Avi Nagin of Brookline, MA, and to Isla Lowe of Chandlers Ford, England. Brown also leaves behind a host of nieces and nephews. She will be greatly missed by her family, her friends, and the community she served for many years.
