Love Ya...

If love would have kept me, I would still be here today
If love would have kept me, You would not have to shed one tear.
I was suffering to stay, but at the same time slipping away.
I felt all your love but was summoned from up above.
God knew best and said, “Come take your rest”
So, love me enough to let me go,
Your heart is heavy, I know
I do not want you to be sad.
So remember the good times we had.
Just know that I am not far away
And in your heart is where I will forever stay.

-Mary Williams

To My Son,

Dreak, it has been an honor to have you as my son. You have always had the prettiest smile and you always had my back. I’m so thankful for the last two months that God gave you back to us and the time we shared together. I am so thankful for you. It hurts so much to let you go but it was time for you to take your rest. My sweet son I will always love you until we meet again. I could go on and on about what a wonderful son you were, but it would take forever. You will forever be in my heart my sweet “Do Dirty”.

Love,
Your Mama

To My Brother,

As I sit here trying to find the words to say. My eyes start to fill with tears, but in my heart, I know that’s where all our memories will stay. I watched you daily at your lowest moments in life, still finding ways to remain so grateful, patient, and nice. Every day was not easy for you, but you found hope in knowing that God spared your life. I’ve never felt pain like this before in my life, but I find peace and comfort in knowing that you will finally be alright. No need to sit around being angry questioning God why, him giving you back to us were two of the best months that we had in our life. You were my brother, my friend, and you always had my back. Now take your rest my sweet brother, until we meet again in this after life.

-Kayla Lindsey
