

Justin Wehling is an amazing husband and wonderful father; a caring and loving son to his parents; a great brother and an even greater poppy. He is an amazing man all around. He has a great sense of humor, and family was always his top priority. He enjoyed football, with his favorite team being the Cowboys. Yet, he was also a fan of the Kansas City Chiefs and was very happy with their Super Bowl win this year.

Justin's knowledge of guns was amazing. You could tell that by the many gun magazines he loved to read. He loved target practice at the creek, usually with his daughter Kass. We just shared a laugh the other night about when he took Kaylee squirrel hunting. He is a family man; he loved his family deeply and showed us that same love every day.

As Justin loved his family so much, he also had a great love for his friends back in Kansas. He made a point to try and see them every trip we made. I always told him how amazed I was at the bond he and his friends enjoyed. Justin was so good to people. He is impossible not to love.

Another great love of Justin's was his war movies, Band of Brothers being one of his favorites. He loved watching and learning about history from the History Channel.

Justin, you are very loved by all of us. I don't know how we make it without you. But I know he is still with us, and we will always keep him very close in our hearts.
