

Don't cry for me I lived a good life
Smile for me because I have no struggle nor strife
Don't cry for me because I am with God
Smile for me because my life wasn't hard
Don't cry for me because I have the armour of God cover my chest
Don't cry for me for I have no more pain
Smile for me because I can work on my own
Don't cry for me because I can do things I could not do before
Smile for me because although I am away I still love you
Don't cry for me just remember me everyday.

The Obituary

Joan Agard was born on May 12th 1946 to Gerona and Ivan Agard (deceased). She was the second child of eight, three sisters and four brothers. Sheila, Lancelot (deceased), Desmond, Joycelyn (Pinky), Doreen, Charles and Michael (Deceased).

Joan began her formal education at Carmel Roman Catholic School. She attended home economics classes where her love for cooking started. She was the source of strength and support to our family. She began cooking at the age of twelve since she had the responsibility of caring for her siblings, especially the youngest Michael (deceased). She did courses in cake decorating and pastry making, this is where she developed the skill of making wedding cakes; from which many in Guyana and America have benefited.

Joan migrated to America with her daughter Audrey in 1991 to join her two other daughters Roxanne and Ronda. While in America She wasted no time in getting a job in catering which she did for many years. Her busy schedule came to end after she suffered an accident one day.

Joanie as she was familiarly called battled through all the odds, she never gave up her determination which took her through life. She was caring, loving and kind to all but not a push over. She knew how to stand her ground. She was full of life and laughter and was always ready to get the party going.

Many relatives and friends enjoyed her company. She allowed nothing to keep her from spending her Saturdays at church.

She shared her love to all her siblings but she had a special way with her nephews, she leaves to mourn her three daughters Roxanne (Richard) , Ronda (Clayton), Audrey (Sherlon), Grandchildren, Great Grandchildren, Sisters, Brothers, Cousins, aunts and many friends.

She will be greatly missed but we will cherish her in memory.
