Donna liked to shop and was known for her interior decorating and fashion sense. The interior of her home was always in order and amazing. Outside she enjoyed her flowers. Family was the most important thing to her, as the kids were growing up many weekends were spent camping. Family get togethers during the holidays and at other times of the year were very important also. She would attend Norsk Hostfest in Minot every year and would even rent out a room in her home for people so they could attend it. The Minot State Fair would have many concerts that she enjoyed going and listening to. Donna loved to attend her grandchildren's many sporting activities along with all of their concerts and events; they meant the world to her. She also really loved traveling; she took many trips and enjoyed every one of them.
