

The Fallen Limb

A limb has fallen from the family tree.

I keep hearing a voice that says,

Grieve not for me.

Remember the best times, the laughter, the songs.

The good life I lived while I was strong.

Continue my heritage, I'm counting on you.

Keep smiling and surely the sun will shine through.

My mind is at ease, my soul is at rest.

Remembering all, how I truly was blessed.

Continue traditions, no matter how small.

Go on with your life, don't worry about falls

I miss you all dearly, so keep up your chin.

Until the day comes we're together again.

Thank You Note From The Family

Perhaps you sent a lovely card, or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent a beautiful spray; if so, we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words any friend could say.
Perhaps you weren't there at all but thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so much... whatever the part.

Celebrating the Life, Love and Legacy of
Leo Campbell

A wise man once said that great pain cannot exist in the absence of great love. It is that love that brings us together today to celebrate a life of tremendous love and great significance. Today we celebrate the life and legacy of Leo Campbell - loving father, passionate educator and faithful friend.

Born to the late Fredrick and Naomi Campbell, Leo was jovial, talkative, talented and fun-loving. He would discover his musical gifts early in life, eventually joining a boy band that traveled to large cities to perform before huge crowds and often opening for a number of notable singing groups and solo artists of the day. Once the band dismantled, Leo would begin to gravitate toward his passion for sports - particularly football - becoming a standout player for the Fayetteville State University Broncos.

His lifelong love for learning and his desire to make a positive difference in the lives of young people would lead him to a long and satisfying career in education as a teacher, a resource counselor, and of course, as a football coach at both the high school and collegiate levels. Coach Campbell was beloved by his students and athletes as he sought to encourage them into the best versions of themselves. He instilled fundamental principles in them, reminding young people to seek and accept nothing less than the best in themselves.

For Leo, maintaining strong relationships with family and friends was especially important. As one of his best friends said of him in recent months: “You can’t help but to love him; he’s got that big personality, but the biggest part of him, I’d have to say, is his heart.” To know and love Leo is a great gift, to be loved by him--an indescribable blessing.

His spiritual life was also of exceptional importance to him. As the leader of the home, Leo sought a closer relationship with God and encouraged his wife and children to do the same. His was an indomitable spirit... the embodiment of courage and perseverance. His story - a modern parable of perfect redemption... and amazing grace.

Left with an abundance of heartwarming memories is his loving daughter, Ingrid and son, Corey along with a host of nieces, nephews, grandchildren and friends committed to carrying on Leo's wondrous legacy.
