

My Last Will & Wishes

*Feel no guilt in laughter, she'd know how much you care.
Feel no sorrow in a smile that she's not here to share.
You cannot grieve forever;
she would not want you to.
She'd hope that you could carry on t he way you always do So, talk about the good times and the way you showed you cared,
The days you spent together, all the happiness you shared.
Let memories surround you, a word someone may say Will suddenly recapture a time,
an hour, a day,
That brings her back as clearly as though she were still here, And fills you with the feeling that she is always near.
For if you keep those moments,
you will never be apart
And she will live forever, locked safe within your heart.*

Big Momma,

You have always been the positive example for us to live with integrity and take pride in your roots. There are an infinite number of memories that will be carried on and retrospectively used the rest of my days. "Here, have a seat stay a while"... would be the indicator that I need to cancel whatever plans awaited the next few hours. As I knew upon leaving it will matter more that my time was spent soaking up wisdom. Than anything else on my schedule. What a huge heart you displayed consistently. No visit or family gathering would be complete without you at least offering me to take something in the kitchen home even a peppermint from your purse for myself or the kids. How random I would think, "now what child likes mints..."

But you knew what that gesture did. It helped to cement a bond with your great grands that is unquestionably authentic and unique. And gave me the understanding that when someone is gracing you with their presence, return that by making them feel welcomed enough to want to come back To know you is to adore you by all. I rejoice in knowing you are in a place where suffering is no more. From here on out when I'm asked how I'm doing, without hesitation I will reply "FINE, FINE, FINE"...

We love you always Big Momma Liz
