

“World-Wide
Internationally
Known!!”

It's hard to forget someone who gave us so much to remember!

December 31, 1967 – April 27, 2020

Ivan Dewayne King (aka Suede) was born in Lawton, Oklahoma, on December 31, 1967. The youngest of six children. He was preceded in death by his father, Edward King. He leaves to cherish his memory his mother Nina L. King of Farmville; two sisters - Constance Stormer of New York, Charlene King of Raleigh; 3 brothers – Edwardo King of Farmville, Michael "Keith" King of Winston Salem, Tomi King of Hope Mills. A host of Nieces and Nephews, Family and Friends. He had a personality that was larger than life, often sharing when met the phrase "World-Wide Internationally Known!". He was an avid supporter of Farmville Central High School. You could always catch him with his handcrafted cane and personal sweat towel over his shoulder, rooting on his home team, Farmville Central High School Jaguars. He was a constant encourager of young people in the community and a Godfather to many. Dewayne was a 'Die Hard' Dallas Cowboy and 'Duke Blue Devil' Fan for life! Suede was a person that always had a 'real word' to say; you knew exactly what he thought; he did not bite his tongue for anyone. Suede also had a very caring side. He was the primary in-house caregiver for his mother, making sure she had her shots and medicine each day. He was also one to make sure he called to check-in on his family and friends; he always kept one ear to the streets and could tell you exactly what was going on. During the Christmas holiday, he would make sure all of his nieces and nephews had a gift under the tree...he would also buy for various kids in the community. Dewayne loved his family and most of the people of Farmville (Lol).

He will be deeply missed.
