

Hang in There Things Will be Better Soon

I know you will miss me.

I will miss you too.

I fought to stay as long as I could,

But now it's time to leave you.

Remember when cares overtake you

And you're waiting for skies to clear,

That life's a series of changes

And a brighter tomorrow is near...

That each day is a brand new beginning

Each day is a bright new dawn.

So, when you come to the end of your rope –

Tie a knot in the end and hang on!

Acknowledgement

Perhaps you sent a lovely card or sat quietly in a chair. Perhaps you sent a floral piece; if so, we saw it there. Perhaps you prayed a sincere prayer or came to pay a call. Perhaps you sang a cheerful song; if so, we heard it all. Perhaps you spoke the kindest words, as any friend could say. Perhaps you prepared a tasty dish, or maybe furnished a car. Perhaps you rendered a service unseen, near at hand or from afar. Whatever you did to console our hearts, by word or deed or touch, whatever was the kindly part, we thank you, oh so very much.

We just want to say thank you.

Life Reflections

Marsha Kaye Rowe-O'Brien was born November 10, 1951, in Fort Worth, Texas, to Eloise Ross Rowe and Jimmie Rowe, Sr.

She is preceded in death by her mother, Eloise Ross Rowe, father, Jimmie Rowe, Sr., grandmother, Martha Rowe, grandfather, Leonard Marvin Rowe, Sr., and her brother, Jimmie Rowe, Jr. She married her husband, Richard O'Brien in July 1989. They later divorced, but remained life-long friends.

She attended the Fort Worth Independent School District. Marsha worked other long term employment, but her greatest joy was derived from the fact that for 30 years, she owned and operated O'Brien Daycare. She cared for and loved each child as she would her own.

Marsha leaves to cherish her memories: a son, Michael Ray Rowe, and his wife, Pamela Rowe; a daughter, Finesha Lanae Hegens, and her husband, Richard Dennis Hegens, Jr.; four sisters, Ruth Martin and her husband, Roy, Patricia Rowe Jones, Elizabeth Dunlap, and Mary Jacobs, and her husband, John; one brother, Johnny Rowe, and his wife; five grandsons, Kenneen Darrel Cail, Cameron Jamal Stevens and his wife, Caroline Stevens, Michael Ray Rowe Jr., Elijah Michael Anthony Banks, and DeMarcus Hegens; six granddaughters, Shi'Anne Eloise Postell, Madison Renae Rowe, Alexus Lacole Flowers, Shayun Torche Eddington, Juanita Glasco, and Karissa Hegens; and seven great-grandchildren, Kira, Loyalty, Mike III, Skylar, Ken'Leigh, Kennedy, and Rylei.
