

Miss Me, But Let Me Go

When I come to the end of the road

And the sun has set for me,

I want no rites in a gloom-filled room,

Why cry for a soul set free?

Miss me a little - but not for long

And not with your head bowed low.

Remember the love that we once shared

Miss me, but let me go.

For this journey we all must take

And each must go alone.

It's all a part of the Master's plan

A step on the road to home.

When you are lonely and sick at heart

Go to the friends we know,

And bury your sorrows in doing good deeds.

Miss me, but let me go.

While living in Mobile, Alabama, Sylvester was a member of Mt. Sinai Baptist Church. He later moved to New Orleans, Louisiana, and joined Greater St. Stephens Baptist Church.

Sylvester was always known to have great jobs and sporty cars.

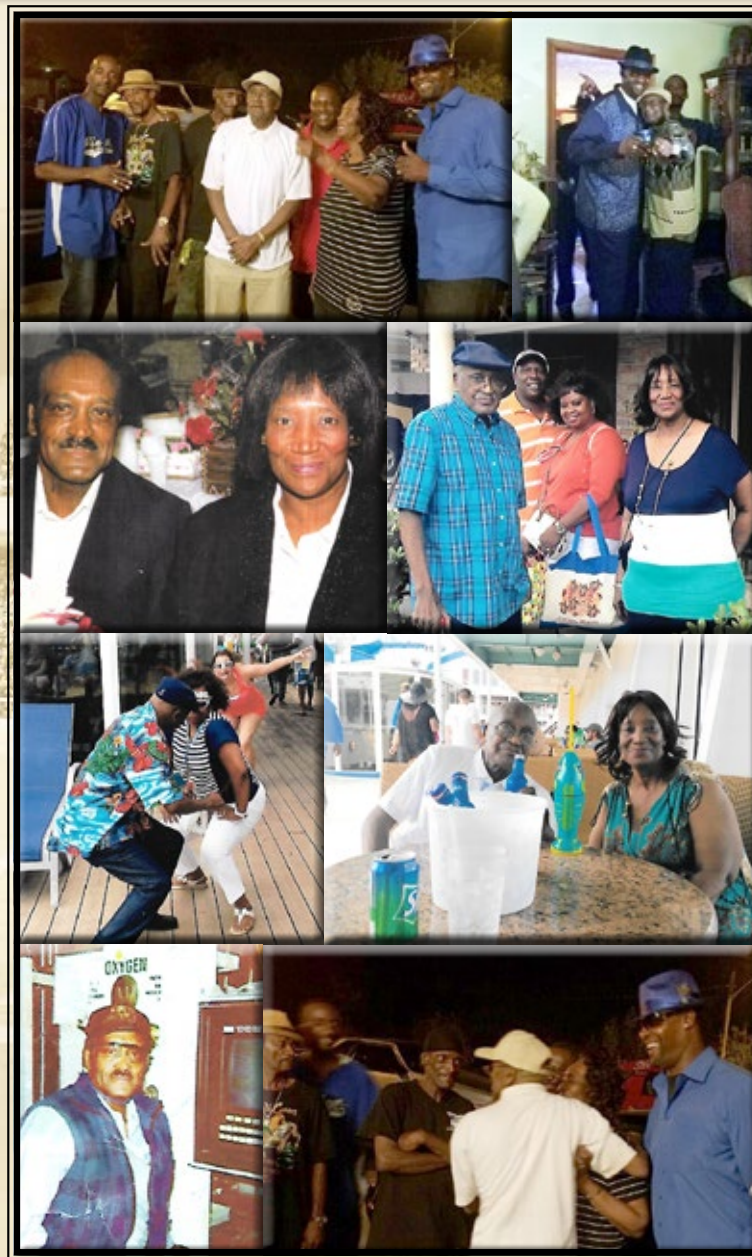

Sylvester began working early as a baker at Tuskegee Institute, Western Auto, and Mobile Welding Supply/Union Carbide Airgas Production in Mobile, Alabama.

Sylvester enjoyed dancing; he and Clara's favorite song was "Blueberry Hill" by Fats Domino.

In 1956, Sylvester married his sweetheart, Miss Clara Ann Jones. To this union, five sons were born: Gregory, Gary, Ronnie, Ricky and Christopher Carlis.

He was preceded in death by: both parents, a son, Marshall Jackson, two brothers, Danny Earl and Samuel Carlis, and two sisters, Diane Pollard and Aline Carlis.
