

*Let me carry your burden
If something's not right I will let you know
Like the paint that's drying on a heart that's poor
Let me carry your burden
Get you back on a high when you're feeling low
When the weight is too heavy but you won't let go
Come to me, my brother, and I will sit with you a while
Pretty soon I'll see you smile and you know you will
No matter how much you're hurting right now
You know that everything will change in time
So let me carry your burden
Let me carry your burden
When your might's on fire but your mind is cold
And you're fighting flames that won't keep you warm
Come to me, my brother, and I will sit with you a while
Pretty soon I'll see you smile and you know you will
No matter how much you're hurting right now
You know...*

CRAIG WOJTOWICZ
1969 ~ 2019

Craig Wojtowicz of Lethbridge, husband to the love of his life Georgia “Thank you for loving me always”, loving father to Presley and Dylan, passed away peacefully at home on Sunday, August 18, 2019, at the age of 49 years

Craig is predeceased by his father Stanley and his mother Dorothy. He is survived by his four sisters and one brother, as well as numerous nieces and nephews.

Craig had a passion for music, he was an exceptional baseball and hockey player. He loved spending time in the arenas and at the ball diamonds watching Dylan grow and develop in the sports that he enjoyed playing himself.

Presley was his princess and it was evident to all how much he cherished her. Craig was a devoted Pittsburgh Penguins fan. His passion for music allowed him to share his talent with many musicians which gave him the opportunity to play in several bands. One of Craig’s greatest joys was to vacation in Mexico with his family.

Craig was a gentleman; he was humble and kind. He had a contagious laugh and his smile would light up the room. He will be dearly missed by all who knew him.
