Turn Again to Life

*"If I should die, and leave you here a while,
Be not like others sore undone,
who keep long vigil by the silent dust and weep.
For my sake, turn again to life, and smile,
Nerving thy heart, and trembling hand to do
Something to comfort weaker hearts than thine,
Complete these dear unfinished tasks of mine,
And I, perchance, may therein comfort you!"*

A Call From Heaven

*I lie awake long into the night, hoping that maybe you just might.
Give me a call to say you're okay
And let me know you made it through the day.*

*I would give everything that I have to make you feel not so sad.
I know the pain is sometimes too great,
But the love was something you can never mistake.*

*I long for the day when I see you again.
Then we can talk about where all we've been.
We can think about all the times we had,
How we've missed each other ever so bad.*

*I feel like I've been cheated and robbed so blind.
God took you away when I thought you were mine. Now I'm stuck here and feel so alone as I sit and wait right beside the phone.*

*You gave me a life and everything I have.
I couldn't say no, even when I was mad. You gave me my children that I hold so dear. You took away everything that I ever feared.*

As the hurt seems to fade but the memories are bright, Maybe I'll see you in a dream tonight. That's all I can hope for until the day when were together in heaven for an eternity.
