

The Welcoming

A new arrival reached the Gates where Light of Lights poured out, and soon, with joy, discovered what the fuss was all about...

*"Welcome!" said a stranger with a twinkle in his eye.
"I am the lost and frightened child whose tears you stooped to dry!"*

"You're home!" a man said. "Now I can say a grateful word for your prayers beside my sickbed that you thought I never heard!"

Another said, "You gave me more then you could quite afford, and set me on my feet so I could know and serve the Lord!"

An on and on, the line stretched out with open arms, they came whose lives were touched on earth by one who cared in Jesus' name.

And when at last this loved one reached the throne room of the Son, the voice of Love Eternal said, "Well done, my child, well done."
