In this world I've tried a many things,
But nothing satisfied; but the love Jesus gave me,
that He placed down deep inside

Now my life has been worth living, since I've been touched by the Master's hand,
Now there's a home waiting for me in Glory Land.

Trials here are sometimes hard to bear,
and the way seems rough and long;
But then I hear a sweet voice calling, "Child you're almost home."

And when I come to cross over Jordan, chilling waters deep and wide,
I won't have to cross alone,
I'll have a friend there by my side.

Don't wait for me because I'm leaving,
because I'm only going home
Nothing in this world seems to satisfy.

I'll be wrapped up in the arms of love,
when Jesus calls me home.

Don't weep for me because I'm leaving, cause I'm only going home.

She and her husband have been members of Apostolic Church for over fifty-five years. She loved her flowers, specifically yellow roses. She collected nutcrackers, books and her favorite, frogs. This time of year was her favorite as she loved to walk the daffodil fields and watch the flowers bloom. She loved cruises, sunset boat rides on Lake Ouachita, and spending her winters soaking up the Florida sunshine. Her love for travel made her ready at the drop of a hat, especially if someone said, "Branson?" But above all else, her favorite times were spent surrounded by the ones she loved the most.
