

That's What She was Like...

She was warm and understanding. She cared for others and sometimes, more than herself. She was always on the go and never took time to rest but somehow, she gave everyone her best, and she continued to pass the test. Now, the time has come by God for her to take her rest. Her memories will always be the best and we will never forget...That's what she was like...

~ A Life Well Lived ~

Ruthie Nell Perry-Martin, affectionately known to family and friends as “Bud”, was born on August 1, 1935 in Covington, Georgia to the late Jim and Alva Maxey.

She attended Washington Street School. Ruthie worked for Lithonia Lighting for over twenty years and The Newton County Public School System. She attended Mt. Olive Baptist Church, where she was active on the mother’s board.

“Bud” was a sharp witted, beautifully spirited, fun loving person. She enjoyed spending time with family and friends and often had dinner and lunch dates with her two sisters, Betty and Jean. “Ruthie” loved to travel and would often recall the time she took her first plane ride from Georgia to California, solo!

With her passing, there is emptiness. In many ways, the gift of Ruthie’s life is still here with us, as she lives on in our memories and in what she instilled in us all throughout the years. “Bud” was preceded in death by her loving husband, Roy Martin; sister, Mary Joyce Gaither; a brother, LC Maxey, Jr. and a grandson, Jerome Perry.

Surviving to cherish her memories are her children, Arbie Perry, Charlotte Perry, and Gerald Perry; two sisters, Betty A. Milsap and Charlotte “Jean” Allen; grandchildren, Tamara Lopez, Nicole Perry, Jamar (Renee) Perry, Isaiah Perry, Alicia Perry, Master Perry, Kirby (Rhonda) Perry, Kimberly (Clayton Sr.) Andrews, Claïressa (Cordell) Benton, twelve great grandchildren and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins and caring friends.
