KEYNOTES | WORKSHOPS | SEMINARS

Greg Chambers helps entrepreneurial companies create sales-and-marketing practices they can get excited about and are a perfect fit for their cultures.

Greg began his consultancy in 2012, and has worked with clients in nine industries, including ecommerce, finance, and healthcare. He coaches clients on how to build revenue through practices like online-and-offline lead generation, new market penetration, database marketing, and referral training.

Before opening his firm, Greg was a serial entrepreneur. He led cult apparel company, Mad Gringo, co-founded the lead generation company, Go Leads.

Greg is also a novelist. His thriller, "The Legend of Mad Gringo," follows a hawaiian shirt-wearing protagonist who quits his corporate job and is forced to do battle with "The System."

Greg travels from Omaha.
