The building lobby, showing the security desk, which is no longer manned at any time.

A lounge area in the lobby. The front doors and security desk are off to the left, and the elevator and the stairs are straight ahead.

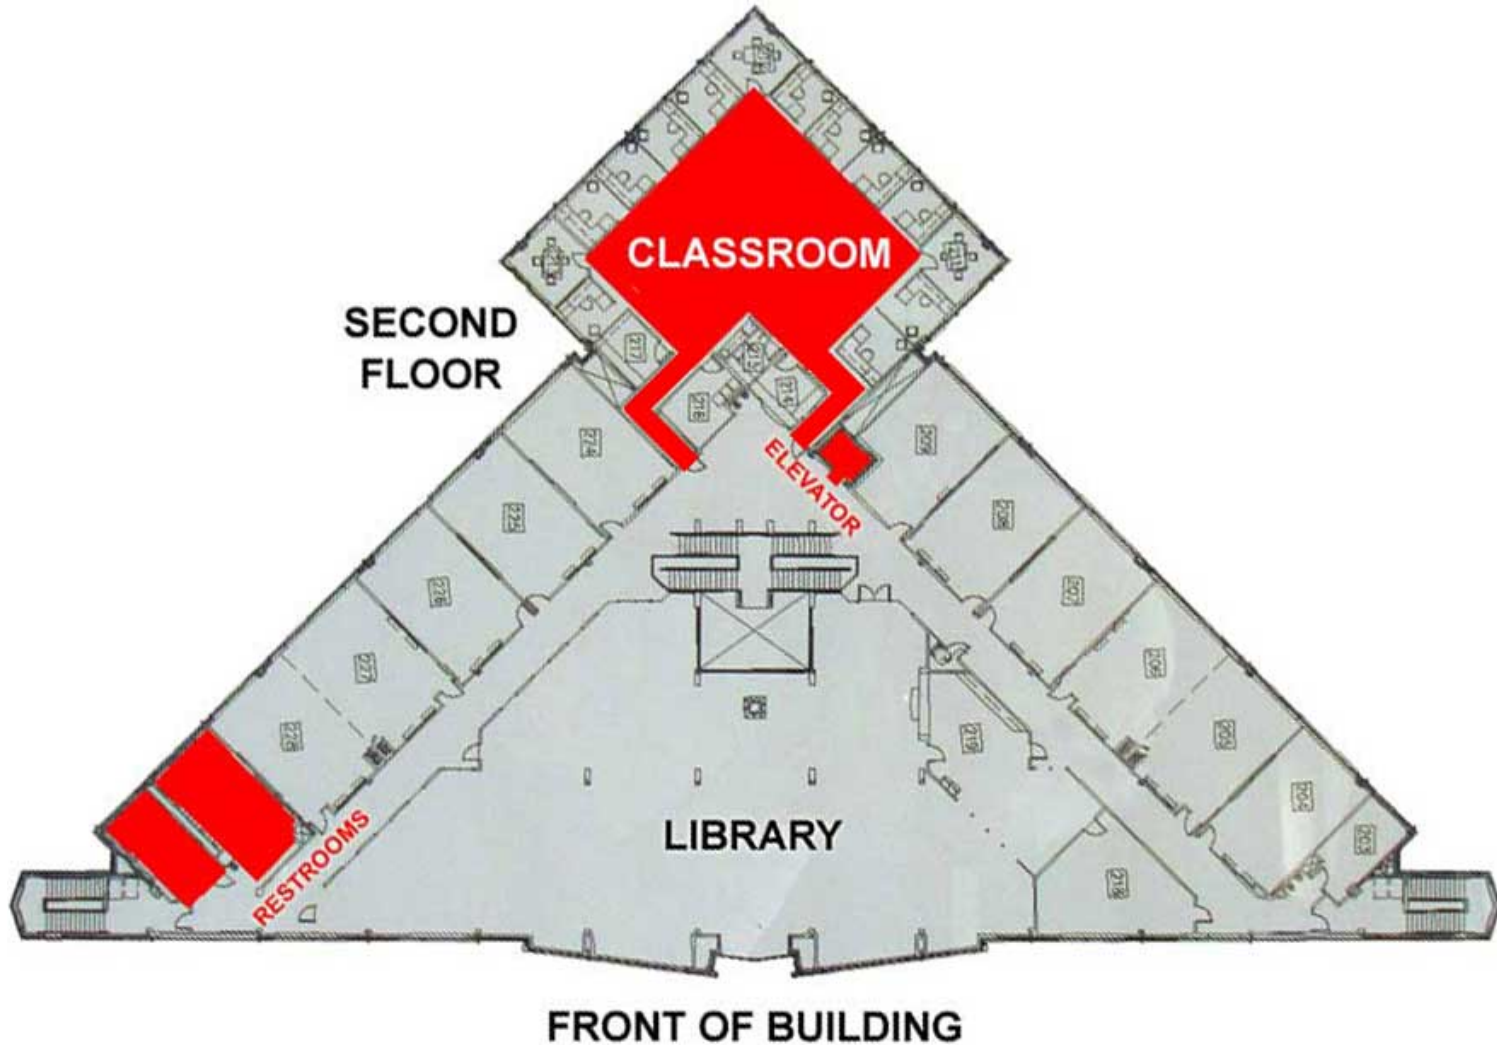

Vending area on the first floor. This is behind the photographer in the previous picture.

Second floor: the elevator door and, to its left, one of the two entrances to our classroom. The other entrance is off to the left.

A panoramic view of our classroom, showing the small galley area on the right. The door in the right background is to a small locked office/conference room that we use for storage.

Layout of the second floor, showing our classroom, the elevator, and the restrooms. The Book Group meets in the Library.
