Improve Your Collective Dressage Scores with William "Bill" Solyntjes

Make plans to be part of the 2014 ODS Educational Symposium, "Improve Your Collective Dressage Scores" with William "Bill" Solyntjes. The symposium will be held March 22-23, 2014, at Lily Pond Estates in Kellyville, Oklahoma.

The symposium will feature a lecture presentation on how judges judge including determining base score; adding criteria focusing on the essence and factoring modifiers; the biomechanics of horse, rider and gaits; and the collective marks. The symposium will also incorporate rider demonstrations with constructive critique and instruction, and several question/answer sessions with the clinician.

Bill Solyntjes is a U.S. Dressage Federation (USDF) bronze, silver and gold medalist, a USDF "S" judge, "R" Sport Horse judge and is a member of the USDF "L" program faculty. Bill has trained and shown several horses to Grand Prix. Based in Hamel, Minn., he operates Brandywine Farm, a dressage training and breeding facility that has produced many year-end award winners both in hand and under saddle.

Auditor registration form can be found at the ODS web site (www.dressageoklahoma.org) or by clicking here. For demo rider application, please click here.

2014 Region 9 Omnibus Available

The 2014 Region 9 Omnibus is now available. You can purchase a copy on-line at <https://www.usdf.org/online-services/region-cc-processing/index.asp?region=9> or you can mail your request to Bruce Lawrie at PO Box 832872, Richardson, TX 75083. The cost of the Omnibus is $15. The Omnibus features all tests and information about judges, trainers and shows.

The 2013 Region 9 Omnibus is now available for download at <http://www.usdfregion9.org/PDFs/2013Omnibus.pdf>.

Platinum Performance/USDF Region 9 Jr/YR Clinic

The Platinum Performance/USDF Region 9 Jr/YR Clinic, featuring Jeremy Steinberg, will be held February 1-2, 2014 at Twinwood Equestrian Center in Simonton, Texas.

For more information, please visit www.usdf.org/education/clinics/jryr/dates-locations.asp. Auditors of all ages are welcome and pre-registration can be completed online! Contact the USDF office for more information.

Message from the President

Happy New Year to you all!

I hope you've survived our abysmal start to the winter without too many broken pipes. Caring for horses in below freezing weather is never easy, and our record-breaking low temperatures made things more difficult.

The best suggestion I've read was regarding keeping water for horses that live out. If you cut a hole in the ice and then leave the water level below that hole, the ice will help insulate the water and the horses will be able to continue to break through. I think I ended up with giant solid ice cubes in my water barrels, but perhaps the idea will work better for you.

I hope to see all of you at our Annual General Meeting on Saturday, January 25 at Freddie's in Sapulpa. We begin at 10:00 a.m. with an open meeting that anyone can attend followed by a luncheon and then the awards presentation. You may attend any of the segments, only the luncheon needs prior notification and registration. All the information is available on the ODS website: www.dressageoklahoma.org

Wishing you a safe, warm, productive New Year!

Sherry Guess

Ruth Anne Korver Attains USEF Honor

Congratulations to ODS member Ruth Ann ("Ruthie") Korver and Mi Ddreamweaver for being selected as the Region 9 Arabian Hunter Pleasure Amateur Reserve Champion and Region 9 Arabian Hunter Pleasure Open Champion.

Ruthie's exceptional accomplishment affords her the honor of being included in the 2013 United States Equestrian Federation Horse of the Year Awards. To commemorate her achievement, USEF will recognize Ruthie in their special Horse of the Year issue of Equestrian magazine, which is published in March.

Horses Develop Confidence Through Compassionate Riding

The nervous or anxious horse is lacking confidence from a myriad of reasons and comes in all forms. It is the rider's responsibility to give the horse confidence. This confidence comes from the rider in a compassionate manner. The rider needs to be able to dissect and understand the origins of such behavior. With some horses, it may be innate within their character and something that should be dealt with on a daily basis. I do not believe the natural horsemanship's answer is the final answer for these types of horses, although some of the techniques may be helpful.

First and foremost, punishment is not the answer and will only make the horse more nervous to the point of being fearful. One must remain calm and not in a hurry. This will create trust; your horse will understand your care for him and that you would not force him into a questionable situation. These type of horses will and can walk through fire for you because they know of your love for them, and that becomes more important than their own Life. Think about the horse and its history, and what we have put them through, and you will get the proper perspective.

The rider's aids are the way of communication. With the nervous horse, the beauty is that, ultimately, the dialogue needs only to be at a whisper. But to get to that point there should be a thorough understanding that your aids are never for punishment.

With this horse I do what I call a period of Indian riding. That means my legs, arms and body encompass all of the horses body in all dressage exercises and they realize there is nothing to fear.

Teaching Excellence Award Nominations Open

The vast majority of prizes and awards are won at horse shows by top competitors. Occasionally, a trainer/instructor can apply for and receive a scholarship or grant for continuing education purposes. It is time to recognize those who teach well.

Those individuals who are selected for the $5,000 Teaching Excellence Award will have many, if not all, of the following attributes:

- A USDF Region 9 member in good standing; permanent residence in Region 9 (required)
- A teacher of dressage, regardless of level (required)
- Adherence to sound dressage principles as outlined by the USDF Training Pyramid
- The ability to communicate these principles of training so that students develop themselves and horses in a logical, progressive and humane way (required)
- A reputation for honesty, integrity and community/regional service
- A USDF Certified Instructor (encouraged, though not required)

A dressage instructor may be nominated by students or peers. Nominations should be made by letter. Letters can be emailed or mailed to Jenny Johnson, Administrative Director, The Dressage Foundation:

The Dressage Foundation
1314 'O' Street, Suite 305
Lincoln, NE 68508
jenny@dressagefoundation.org

The nomination period is from January 1st to June 1st of each year. Current year nominations will not be accepted after June 1st. Once received, the nominee will be notified and may submit a completed application by the deadline date of August 1st. Applications must also be mailed to The Dressage Foundation at the above address.

A person is not eligible to win the award two consecutive years in a row. Therefore, a current award winner should not be nominated the year following their receipt of the award.

The goal for this Fund is to develop initial, one-time financial donations, as well as annual donations from individuals. On-going annual contributions may continue until the fund is fully endowed. This award will total $5000/year. The Dressage Foundation is enthusiastically supportive of this award and willing to manage the endowment and help it grow.

USDF Announces New Instructor/Trainer Program Faculty

The United States Dressage Federation (USDF) is pleased to announce that Heidi Chote, CA, Kathryn Fleming-Kuhn, IL, and Katherine Simard, CO, have been appointed as new faculty members for the USDF Instructor/Trainer Program at Training-First Level. Each of these new faculty members is a USDF Certified Instructor through Fourth Level. In addition, Heidi is a USDF Bronze, Silver, and Gold Medalist and USDF "L" Graduate; Kathryn is a USDF Bronze, Silver, and Gold Medalist; and Katherine is a USDF Bronze, Silver, and Gold Medalist, as well as a USDF "L" Graduate with Distinction.

The Instructor/Trainer Program workshops are an opportunity to learn about classical theories of riding, training, teaching and lungeing and are open to anyone. "We are pleased to add these new members to our Instructor/Trainer Workshop Faculty, and we hope that by providing more qualified faculty, our program will continue to grow," stated both Lilo Fore and Chris Hickey, co-chairs of the Instructor/Trainer Committee.

For more information on scheduling a workshop, visit the USDF website at www.usdf.org or contact the USDF office at instructorcertification@usdf.org.

Attention Region 9 Youth Schooling Show Riders

Are you up for a challenge? Would you like to earn a lovely personalized certificate showing everyone that you met the challenge? If so, please participate in the Region 9 Youth Schooling Show Challenge. All you have to do is keep track of your scores throughout this year and send them to Anne Kuhns, Region 9 Youth Programs representative. They can be copied and sent by mail or scanned and sent by e-mail. If you meet the challenge, Anne will send you a certificate by e-mail that you can print out and display for everyone to see! All of this is no cost to you. If you would also like a patch to put on a jacket or item of your choice, that will be delivered to your door for $15.

For more information, please visit <http://www.usdregion9.org/JRYR/Region9YouthSchoolingShowChallenge.pdf>.

Region 9 Nutrena/USDF Adult Clinic Series featuring Hilda Gurney by Christina Harmon

The beautiful Willow Draw facility in Weatherford, Texas, played host to the Region 9 USDF Adult Clinic featuring Hilda Gurney the weekend of November 2-3, 2013.

The horses and riders provided the auditors with a variety of skill levels to observe. All were quite accomplished riders, both the amateurs and professionals. No matter the skill level of the horse or the rider, Hilda found a lot to work on and offered guidance to help the riders improve their technical skills and their riding in general.

Hilda focused on several things throughout the course of the clinic. Most of the discussion was focused on bend and the importance of having the horse correctly bent. Not just a bend through the neck or head of the horse, but through the body. This is a very important distinction. If the horse was not correctly bent throughout their body, the movements became more and more difficult to execute, especially as the horse and riders advanced up the levels, and the harmony between horse and rider was lost. Timing and precision of the aids are also very important and were addressed throughout the entire clinic.

The clinic started with a very young horse: a three-year-old Oldenburg mare. Hilda talked about how at this age and level of training, it takes an entire year for the horse to adjust to the weight of the rider. Hilda likes to show her young horses in the Materiale classes towards the end of the three-year-old year and start work on the training level classes. In a horse this young, we are starting at the bottom of the training scale, with the focus on rhythm first, then looseness (relaxation). Most important in the training is the rhythm. Without rhythm, it's not dressage. Positive tension is also being developed and we want to establish an immediate response to the aids. Hilda talked a lot about immediately softening your aids once a response from the horse was received, even if it was a tiny response. This is very important, because the softening is the reward for the horse. The aids should be a push forward, never a pull backwards. Pulling backwards will teach the horse to brace rather than soften and accept the contact. It is also important to recognize when a young horse is getting tired in their training. They are building muscles to carry the rider. Hilda gave an excellent piece of advice: "Never, ever, have a fight with a tired horse because they are physically exhausted they are not able to concentrate."

The next rider and horse team consisted of an 11-year-old Appendix Quarter Horse and an amateur rider, fairly new to dressage. This team worked primarily on consistency of tempo and rider biomechanics. The focus for this pair was sitting trot. Hilda had the pair working on a bigger and bigger trot and obtaining and maintaining the correct bend in the horse. Over and over again, Hilda emphasized the importance of the horse working inside leg to outside rein and also maintaining softness, roundness and bend before the transitions.

A seven-year-old Oldenburg was the next horse up. Hilda wanted to help this pair work on their canter and balance. She started the pair by having the rider get the horse to stretch into the contact. The purpose was to help the horse become steadier in the contact. She mentioned that steadiness is where you get your good points. As the rider started out in her lesson, her reins were too long and the horse was unbalanced through his body and unsteady in the contact. As they progressed through their lesson, they became steadier in the contact and the bend became better throughout the horse's body. This horse didn't have a consistent contact or connection when they started their lesson but became better towards the end. Hilda said several times that having the horse go faster in the canter was not teaching him to take weight behind, but we need to encourage him use his back and anticipate when he is about to come off of the aids.

Every lesson that Hilda taught worked toward harmony between the rider's aids and the horse's gaits. The ability between the horse and rider to achieve harmony was achieved through the correct use of the aids, steadiness of the tempo, and consistency on the part of the rider's position. Every level built upon the basics that were previously established in the level before it. It was very educational to see how establishing the basics of rhythm and relaxation (looseness) with a very young horse carries through to the higher levels, only with a higher degree of refinement. The response and effectiveness of the aids never stops being the focus of the training, no matter the level. From a three-year-old all the way up to a seasoned Grand Prix horse, establishment of the aids is critical to ease of teaching the horse dressage.

The USDF Adult Clinic Series provided an excellent opportunity to learn from a top-notch dressage educator and competitor. Auditing the clinic was an invaluable experience and one that I hope to repeat in the future.

FEI Introduces New and Revised Dressage Tests Effective January 1, 2014

The Fédération Equestre Internationale (FEI) has announced revised and new dressage tests that will come into effect January 1, 2014. The FEI has revised its Intermediate II, Grand Prix, and Grand Prix Special, which will be applied at the start of the 2014 competition season.

Additionally, a Medium Tour has been announced to assist horse-and-rider combinations transition from the Small Tour to the Big Tour. The Medium Tour will utilize the newly introduced Intermediate A and B Tests and may be offered at either CDI Events and/or USEF/USDF Dressage Competitions.

These new and revised tests will impact USEF and USDF programs and championships as outlined below:

- USEF Dressage Competitions may offer all FEI Tests effective January 1, 2014. CDI Organizers should refer to the updated FEI rules.
- For the USEF Young Adult 'Brentina Cup' Dressage National Championships, when ridden in a CDI within the qualifying period, riders may choose to count either the FEI Intermediate II or the FEI Intermediate B towards the ranking list. There will be no changes to the tests ridden at the Championships.
- For the Markel/USEF Developing Horse Grand Prix Dressage National Championships, there will be no changes to the tests that the horse/rider combinations ride in the qualifying competitions or at the Championships.
- To qualify for the GAIG/USDF Regional Championships, horse/rider combinations will need to use either the Intermediate B or Intermediate II test to qualify for Intermediate B (formerly Intermediate II) Championship. At the Regional Championships and US Dressage Finals, horse/rider combinations will ride Intermediate B test.

All FEI Tests can be found at www.fei.org/fei/your-role/organisers/dressage/tests.
