SQUINT™ Special Report

It is election day and we are seeing numerous SQUINTs regarding some of the issues with voting equipment in New York and Georgia. The SQUINT below alleges this is to suppress voting in districts that President Trump won in 2016:

All information available indicates that these are routine glitches that occur on election day and that election workers are addressing the issues as quickly as possible. In New York, the issue does not affect voting as it is the scanner that had an issue. In Georgia, election workers are using paper ballots as a work around. All voters who are in line when the polls close will be allowed to vote.

We have also gotten reports similar to the one below about robocalls indicated that voting machines are down and alternative voting locations. As always, check the website for your county and state for the latest and most accurate information.
