Florida Floodplain Managers Association

2018 Annual Conference – Floods Are Universal

Doubletree by Hilton Hotel at the Entrance to Universal Orlando, April 10-13, 2018

www.FLfloods.org

The Florida Floodplain Managers Association (FFMA) is having its Annual Conference in April 2018. FFMA is a diverse group of professionals whose mission is to provide leadership in floodplain management to reduce risk and loss caused by flood. These communities participate in and enforce the standards of the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP). FFMA has been growing each year, and currently has over 700 members. Now is the chance to reach a whole new group of professionals! Check out the benefits of being a sponsor, exhibitor or both:

- Low costs for sponsorship and exhibiting compared to other organizations and conferences
- Reach a multi-disciplinary group of professionals, including floodplain and stormwater managers, engineers, surveyors, building officials and plans examiners, insurance agents and emergency managers, to name a few.
- Network with local, state and federal government officials including representatives of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).
- Have your company name highlighted on our Conference website, on Conference print materials including signage throughout the site, and in the exhibitor's area.

Please contact Cece McKiernan, CFM at executivedirector@FLfloods.org or 813-765-FFMA (3362) for more information about how you can join this special group of professionals.
