Session Descriptions:

Cultivating Empathy, Mindfulness and Compassion in the Practice of Healing: An experiential interactional program covering the roots of our choice of profession and how we can use all the skills possible to develop a coherent narrative of our personal and professional lives. Honing these skills that include empathy, mindfulness and compassion among others will allow us to better help our patients and clients.

Tibetan Healing Meditation: For over 2,500 years meditation, mantra recitation, and visualization have successfully aided in keeping the body and mind healthy and sustained.

Balint: Named after Michael Balint, this experiential group process enhances self understanding and addresses less conscious aspects of patient/practitioner relationships.

Kum Nye (Tibetan Yoga): Based on Tibetan medicine, this form of yoga is a gentle healing system that uses movement, massage and breathing practices to promote physical and emotional health.

The Complexity of Compassion: The benefits of compassion in healing a multitude of conditions. exploring how compassion for self is the twin of compassion for others.

Next Steps? This retreat is one of a series of retreats working on the general issue of integrating eastern wisdom into professional healing practice.
