

Tour #2 – Saturday, October 28, 2017

The National Museum of the American Indian, NYC

---

“Not all learning is free nor is it all passive.”

Tour Costs and Reservations

The tour has a limited number of spaces in this tour. The fee is $30. Payment can be made by cash, check and credit card. Everyone interested must first register by email: harrisonrows@gmail.com (subject line: Tour #2). Upon registration, additional information will be provided.

Reserved space will be maintained for those paid in full by October 22, 2017. Group rates are available.

What does Your Tour Fee Cover?

Your contribution is vital to helping the Ethical Action Committee provide programs that enhance and illustrate our commitment to learning about and understanding various American cultures and their histories in our society. Your support gives us the ability to bring in knowledgeable guides, provide educational materials, and host discussions and activities such as the tour of the National Museum of the American Indian. We plan future events.

What is the Ethical Action Committee?

The Ethical Action Committee (EAC) of the Brooklyn Society for Ethical Culture (BSEC) strives to develop programs that increase the general understanding of people whose history is obscured, misconstrued or thwarted. At this juncture, this brings us to the histories of Africans in the New World and the Native Peoples who were here thousands of years earlier.

We are pleased to have secured the service of Evan Pritchard, a cultural preservationist renowned in his field. He will gift us with his knowledge of the people, his people, who made first contact with the Dutch, then later the English as they vied for control then ownership of the deep-water channel to the Atlantic Ocean -- the Mother Lode of Trade, the Manhattan harbor at Battery Park in Lower Manhattan, New York City.

Thank you for your support of EAC at BSEC.