
Letter from the President

School's over and the Cuda's swim and dive teams are back. This year we are happy to report that we have 150 children participating on the Swim team, 45 young Cuda's on the Pre-team, and 15 kids on Dive team.

Practices are held at the club every morning and afternoon. The kids are practicing hard and getting better every day. Many thanks to our coaches and staff for all the hard work, and to all the parent volunteers for their time and support. You make the Cuda's happen!

As you know swim team 'B' meets are held on Wednesday evenings, and 'A' meets are held on Saturday mornings. Dive meets are held on Sunday evenings. Please check our web site at www.carderockclub.org for the full schedule of home and away meets.

We are so proud of all our Cuda's. They work hard, compete well, and have a great time. What could be better than that?

Go CUDA's,
Suzette

FOX NEWS

Here is the latest Fox News, right here in Carderock. Fox News is not just the TV Channel...

For several weeks Carderock residents who didn't receive their daily newspapers were sure that various newspaper delivery folks were not doing their job. Aha! Mystery solved. It was an intelligent fox, picking up newspapers and taking them into the woods. Not sure if s/he was more interested in world politics, editorials, local news, Style, comics, sports, or perhaps classifieds. At least 4 homes on Fenway Road have been newspaper-napped this spring. Now we know that the human deliverer is not to blame!

For those who have witnessed the fox carrying a newspaper, he's given them a smile to start their day.

Some of the fox's newspapers which were rescued from the woods.

LOCAL HISTORY

Why is Cabin John named Cabin John?

The origin of the name "Cabin John" has never really been solved. Some think it was named for a stranger who had a cabin overhanging a cliff near the present Cabin John Bridge. This man had little to do with his neighbors and when asked his name replied, "Call me John". He had a pack of dogs, dressed in raccoon skins, and lived mostly on fish and game. He was an excellent shot. This almost legendary character disappeared as mysteriously as he had come. One story features the stranger as a heart-broken musician who played the violin and sang doleful songs of another land. Those with a romantic imagination have evolved a tradition identifying this hermit as the husband of the "female stranger" whose tombstone in Alexandria, VA still stands to challenge lovers of mystery.

Another story makes the mysterious John a pirate who eluded his own crew and made his way up the Potomac to bury his treasures. After his strange disappearance which meant his death, he returned frequently on nights when the wind was strong, his rifle over his shoulder, but when sighted disappeared in a flare of light. This version was believed by locals and for a long time they would never cross the bridge after midnight, especially on a Saturday. This interpretation was also held in good faith by the American Land Company, which put in many deeds the intriguing provision that "the party of the first part reserves the right to one-half interest in any treasure or articles of special value which may have been hidden on said lot or parcel by John of the Cabin." Still others insist that an Inn once stood on the branch near the River Road, known as Johns Cabin and that it was responsible for the name Cabin John. However, in many of the old records, as far back as 1715, the creek is referred to as Captain Johns Run or Branch. Thus it would seem that Cabin John is a corrupt spelling of Captain Johns and very likely that is the origin as the name.

Captain John Smith in 1608 was the first white man to explore the Potomac River and make a map of it. He sailed up the river to the limit of tidewater - Little Falls - and told of the "mighty rocks and diverse places where the water had fallen from the mountains." Today our section of the river looks just as wild and untamed as in the days of Captain John Smith.

- Thanks to Carderock's Bill Feller for this information!

CARDEROCK WOMEN'S BOOK GROUP

July 2, Monday, 1 - 3 pm

A Confederacy of Dunces, by John Kennedy Toole

Our next book transports us from hot and steamy Carderock Springs to hotter and steamier New Orleans. Curl'd Up Book Reviews calls John Kennedy Toole's Confederacy of Dunces "a grand farce of overeducated white trash, corrupt law enforcement, exotic dancing and the nouveau riche of New Orleans. John Kennedy Toole didn't live to see this now-classic novel published. He committed suicide in 1969 at the age of thirty-two. It was his mother who was responsible for bringing his book to public light, pestering the hell out of Walker Percy. . . Percy laments the body of work lost to the world of literature with the author's death, but rejoices 'that this gargantuan tumultuous human tragicomedy is at least made available to a world of readers,'" many of whom happen to live right here in Carderock Springs.

We meet on Monday July 2 from 1 - 3 pm at the home of Suzanne Yokel, 8208 Fenway Road. For those wanting to read ahead, here's a sneak preview of our upcoming selections:

August: The Prince, Niccolo Machiavelli

September: Ali and Nino, Said

October: Bleak House, Charles Dickens

Be curious, come join us. All are welcome, hope to see you!

CSCA ARC Meetings, usually 1st Wednesday of the month, 7:30 pm

The Citizens' Association has an Architectural Review Committee meeting on the 1st Wednesday of each month at the Clubhouse, 7:30 pm. If you are considering an addition or exterior modification of your home, bring your plans for review. Design and review procedures plus other documents are available at the Citizens' Association website, CarderockSprings.net . The ARC was created by the covenants which govern your property in Carderock. ARC meetings are open for any and every community member to attend, whether you are renovating or not. The next ARC meeting is Monday July 9 since July 4 is a holiday and the following Wednesday is a home swim meet.
