Distance Driving is not currently an ADS recognized activity. However, like TREC, there are groups that have adapted and modified a ridden discipline to a driven one. The following are links to two known organizations that have followed this approach. Please feel free to contact them for further details regarding this activity. Should you find other sources of helpful information on distance driving please contact the ADS Recreational Committee Chair so it may be included here at midatlantic@americandrivingsociety.org.
