Additional Upcoming TESTIFY Events include:

Private Tour of Minneapolis Central Library's Special Collection!

If you would like to learn more about the Library's incredible collections, particularly the Huttner Abolition and Anti-Slavery Collection, please send an email to Adam Breininger at abreiner@hclib.org. You will be contacted with more information about a special private tour in the coming weeks.

Wednesday, January 31: Alan Page addresses difficult questions
NFL Hall of Famer and former Minnesota Supreme Court Justice Alan Page will present a talk titled "TESTIFY: It's Not About the Flag or the Anthem, It's About Justice." The address will respond to the controversy surrounding NFL protests and will attempt to shift the focus from whether player protests are appropriate back onto the underlying issue of racial justice. The event will be held Wednesday, January 31, 2 to 4 p.m., at Pohlad Hall, 2nd floor, Minneapolis Central Library, 300 Nicollet Mall, Minneapolis.

February 1-3:

Film screenings explore Alan Page's life story

NFL Films chronicles Alan Page's life in "Black Star Risen," a film produced by David Plaut. As a player, Page redefined the defensive tackle position in pro football and made the Hall of Fame - only to leave the game behind for a new career in law and education. Another film, "A Football Life: Alan Page" is a documentary about Page's journey in sports and beyond. Both movies will be screened in Pohlad Hall, Minneapolis Central Library on 3 consecutive days: Thursday, February 1-Saturday, February 3, 3-5 p.m. in Pohlad Hall, 2nd floor, Minneapolis Central Library, 300 Nicollet Mall, Minneapolis.
