IAWRP is excited to announce the details of the 2019 Annual Water Rescue Symposium dedicated to all disciplines of surface water rescue.

- Are you a Vendor or Educator interested in reaching a dedicated Surface Water Rescue Audience?
- Are you tired of conferences where the attendees spend more time in the classroom than meeting with you, or when the exhibit hours are spread out over multiple days for only a few hours a day?
- Would you prefer receptions, breaks and meals to be served in exhibit hall during exhibit hall hours?
- Would you like to have your product T&E'd during the symposium's HOT sessions?
- Would you like to have direct access to many of the top Surface Water Practitioners and Training Agencies all in one location?

With static water, a 2,000 foot water flow controlled raceway (The East Race), 2 low head dams and the St Joseph's River within a 5 minute walk from the hotel and conference center, this venue provides vendors an outstanding opportunity to reach national and international water rescue practitioners and agencies!

If you are, then this 3 day conference is for you! Space is limited, so don't delay. For more information about the conference or how can become a corporate sponsor, contact us at info@iawrp.com or visit us at www.iawrp.com

IAWRP's vision is to bring members from all disciplines of the world-wide water rescue community together to promote safety, training, and best practices. We strive to enhance the success of these low frequency high risk water rescue activities. IAWRP raises awareness of the critical role that water rescue responders provide in the safety and security of our fellow citizens.
