LOWLINC--A Resource for Information about Community Services
Carolyn Rourke, LOWLINC Communications Committee

LOWLINC, the new service organization dedicated to helping seniors remain in their homes as long as possible, is pleased to provide information on its website about a wide range of social, transportation and medical services available in Orange County and the Piedmont region.

Many different programs and services are available for seniors but it can be difficult and frustrating to find the names of the organizations and their phone numbers. LOWLINC is collecting such information and posting it on its website or for everyone to use.

One resource on the LOWLINC website is a Quick Guide to Family Resources, prepared by the Piedmont United Way. Included in the Guide are phone numbers for:

- health care and emergency care
- legal services and advocacy
- transportation
- adult day care
- disability services
- hospice
- support groups
- Orange County social services

To see this Guide, go to www.lowlinc.org. Select the "Resources" tab, then "Community Resources." More resources will follow as LOWLINC continues to fulfill its goal of providing referrals to existing community service organizations. You can also get a Guide by calling the Piedmont United Way Inc. at 540-825-7569 and asking for the Quick Guide to Family Resources.
