

Loch Leven Day Hike

“Loch Leven is rated a moderately difficult day hike in the so & so book of hikes... ta da, ta da, ta da.....”

This is a sample map of what we can offer to our members.

Others are hike leaders, here I prefer to follow. Let me know your planned hike. I will be happy to work with you to develop maps and data that works for your planned outing.

This particular map may not be entirely accurate for a hike leader but it can easily be adjusted for you needs. Let me know your needs and we will be able to build a library of maps for hiking, biking, cross-country skiing, snowshoeing, or whatever. For those who tend to get lost, GPS coordinates can be incorporated.

For those of you who are more familiar with this trail please contact me to help make the appropriate corrections.

Bob McGrath

