DARN Attendance Policy

Three Strike Rule – Good Standing

Representatives who have signed up to attend an event are expected to notify the coordinator (via email) and the high school counselor (if applicable) if they need to cancel their visit at least 24 hours before the scheduled visit. If a representative fails to do so, they will be considered a ‘no-show’ for the program and earns one strike (exceptions may be made at discretion of the coordinator/committee). Additionally, if an individual is more than 15 minutes late, the tardy counts as a strike for the individual. If an individual member receives three strikes in a period (from either no-shows and/or late arrivals), then that individual member will not be able to participate in DARN for the remainder of the period. The member will be notified by email and via their DARN technology platform account that they have received a strike. The email will include the Three Strike Rule. Only programs that require direct response to and are coordinated by a DARN representative are considered DARN events.

If the individual member receives three strikes, they will be on probation. The individual member will be removed from the active membership list, added to the probation list, and will no longer be considered in Good Standing. Once the period has ended, the member will be reinstated to DARN and the active membership list. If the member is on probation for two periods they will be removed from the organization. If an individual wants to be reinstated, they will submit an Appeal Form that will be reviewed by the membership committee. Individual member attendance will be tracked within the DARN technology platform.

The periods are defined as August 2nd to January 1st, January 2nd to May 1st, May 2nd to August 1st

* It will be the responsibility of the coordinator or their designate to manage the attendance for their event by the end of business day Friday of the week of the event.

 Please note that this attendance policy is individually based. If an institution has multiple members in DARN, the institution as a whole will not be penalized for the actions of one member. Furthermore, if a member leaves one institution and joins another within DARN, their attendance record will follow them. Please refer to the Executive Board at texas.darn@gmail.com for questions about the policy and/or attendance records.

The attendance committee will include non-executive committee members and will be announced, upon final formulation and by the secretary, to the DARN membership.

*Due to the unique nature of Swing programming and virtual events, authority is granted to the Swing committee and any virtual committees to inform attendees of the acceptable attendance policy. The secretary and attendance committee will enforce these standards, accordingly, as they are communicated to the membership, prior to Swing and virtual events.

DARN Dues Policy

As of August 1, 2019, DARN annual dues includes a required $50 fee per institution (per Article IV – Finances and Dues), with the option to add-on additional events. For a possible grand total of $160 per institution (based on the combination of events selected).

Breakdown of dues:

A.) Website, organization program, programs $50.00 (required)

1. Counselor Update Fort Worth $50.00 (optional)
2. Counselor Update Dallas $50.00 (optional)
3. Summer Programming $10.00 (optional)

DARN Signature Events Policy

As a membership, we define Signature Events as DARN programming offered to due-paying representatives who specifically belong to the DARN network: These events include Swings, the College Search Series, the DARN Counselor Updates, the DARN Annual Conference, virtual events, and other programming, as added. Because these events fall under the umbrella of the DARN-specific-brand, we respectfully ask that our counselor partners limit invitees to members of DARN only.

If the Signature Event is based in the Greater DFW area, as defined in the DARN by-laws, a DARN member should attend. If the Signature Event resides outside of the Greater DFW area, other admissions staff can attend, supporting our commitment to institutional memberships. An alumni representative is not allowed to attend any of the above-mentioned programming, in replacement of the DARN member. Regardless of the attendee—whether it be the DARN member or other admissions staff—the DARN member is held responsible for registering for the event, communicating any essential programming information, and relaying messages about potential cancellations to the event organizer. Failure to comply with DARN’s policies and procedures results in penalty directed toward the DARN member.

*Reference DARN’s Attendance Policy for clarification concerning policies and procedures.

 The executive committee reserves the right to reevaluate attendees allowed for situations that might include FMLA leave, transitions to new employment, and other extenuating circumstances.

(Unofficial) Best Practices for Elections

- The current executive committee will encourage membership involvement and exercise of leadership through myriad committee and volunteer opportunities, throughout the fiscal year; the hope is that these acts of service will matriculate into elected executive appointments.
- No amount of experience or tenure is required for DARN leadership (except in the position of DARN Chair). Otherwise, we welcome and encourage the insights and service of all members.
- While not required, we continue to encourage that members only accept one nomination, per election cycle, to avoid the splitting of votes.
- The nomination process is intended to function as a multi-way channel: Members are encouraged to nominate any member(s) they feel is/are deserving; interested members can self-nominate; interested members can reach out to other members to solicit nominations.
- The Past-Chair, as the facilitator of annual elections, will encourage candid conversations about leadership opportunities at both the commencement of elections and during the nomination window before elections formally open.
