SANDY SCHUSSEL

Helping professional service firms attract and keep clients.

“For the past 12 years, Sandy Schussel has been helping lawyers, financial advisors, insurance agents, consultants and their firms find more and better clients without adding significantly to their workload, and find more time to enjoy the income from their work.”

Through his keynote speeches, training workshops, and private coaching programs, Sandy will help you—and your team—figure out where you want to be and when, develop a plan, and start taking action NOW to get you there.

During this presentation:

Attendees will learn about eighteen disciplines they can use to create client relationships that work better for coaches than the marketing and sales models employed by other professionals
